Algerian Junta Must Yield Power

DeGaulle Says He Will Run Country, Flies To Paris

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Premier de Gaulle declared Friday he will run Algeria, and the French civilian-military junta must yield its insurgent authority. Then he abruptly flew back to Paris.

But there were rumblings of discontent among these men who revolted against Paris May 13 and demanded De Gaulle be returned to power. Some extremists spoke darkly of new rebellious action.

De Gaulle named Gen. Raoul Salan as his delegate-general in Algeria. He declared authority now rests in Salan's hands and it must not be contested.

Salan served the junta—the All-Algerian Public Safety Committee—as its military commander. But he dragged his feet at the outset of its struggle for power.

Makes Position Clear

De Gaulle made his position clear in a face-to-face meeting with representatives of the junta at a meeting here. He said he will personally assume control over Algerian affairs, acting as his own Cabinet minister.

The leaders of the civilian-military junta were obviously forced to settle for half a loaf victory—at least for the present.

The first enchantment with the persons and symbol of De Gaulle had clearly gone, not only among members of the junta but among right-wing French settlers here.

These were the points of discord:

1. Although De Gaulle has established himself firmly as head of the French government with sweeping special powers, he gave the junta leaders no clear assurance he planned a thorough housecleaning to remove from his Cabinet names associated with a weak political system the insurgents despise.

Not Awarded Posts

2. Apparently De Gaulle has not bothered to take insurgent leaders into his confidence or to reward any of them with government posts. Insurgent leaders here wanted Jacques Soustelle, political strongman of their movement, named minister for Algeria or to some other post.

3. De Gaulle sought to deal a death blow to the vast network of public safety committees in Algeria and elsewhere. He ordered them to stop trying to run the country and to stay out of politics.

Claims Make AF Jittery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said Friday its pilots are getting jumpy and their fighting proficiency is affected, by the rash of allegations by airlines about near misses from collisions.

A report to Air Force headquarters Friday from investigators of the ispector general's office, working at Norton Air Force Base, Calif., dealt with one of the more recent complaints.

The report also recommended steps to prevent private or commercial aircraft from flying in prohibited military areas. The inspectors said there have been numerous such violations.

Among other things, the report said: "Based upon conversations with tactical jet pilots at George Air Force Base, Calif., investigators note an acute awarness by these pilots of dangers and problems inherent in the mid-air collision" possibility.

The need for caution and the "implication of being involved inadvertently in the violation are having an adverse effect upon morale and tactical effectiveness."

Mickey Rooney, Wife Planning Divorce Action

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Rooney and his fourth wife, actress Elaine Mahnken, appeared to be heading toward a divorce.

The actor's manager, Red Doff, told a reporter Friday that Mickey has tried "very hard to hold this marriage together. He and his wife still are living under the same roof, but a state of separation exists and some kind of action probably will be filed."

Rooney's wife of almost six years said later: "This has been brewing for a long time. I think both Mickey and I may be happier if we get a divorce. I have spoken to attorney Jerry Giesler, but nothing definite has been done yet."

Mickey's previous marriages to Ava Gardner, Betty Jane Rase, and Martha Vickers ended in divorce.

McCone Picked By Eisenhower For AEC Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower named John A. McCone, a Los Angeles businessman and engineer, to the Atomic Energy Commission Friday as successor to Lewis L. Strauss.

Strauss, who has been chairman of the five-member commission, is leaving when his term expires June 30.

McCone, 56, served as a high Pentagon official during the Truman administration. He was deputy to the secretary of defense in 1948 and undersecretary of the Air Force in 1950-51.

The White House said no announcement would be made on whether McCone would take over as AEC chairman, or merely become one of the five members, until the Senate has acted on his nomination.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland—like McCone, a Californian—said it was his understanding McCone will get the chairmanship. The selection is made by the President

Knowland, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he had heard of no opposition to McCone's confirmation. There had been talk some senators were ready to oppose another term for Strauss, whose service was highly praised by Eisenhower.

Strauss, an AEC member from 1946-50 and chairman since 1953, gave notice Thursday he was leaving when his current five-year term expires.

He has been reported at odds with Secretary of State Dulles on the question of halting nuclear weapon tests—he's for continuing the tests while Dulles leans toward a temporary ban as a possible step toward an agreement with Russia to stop tests for all time.

McCone's views on this question are not on record. He was in Washington Friday but the White House said he did not see Eisenhower, and he left for New york before newsmen could talk with him.

A personal friend of Eisenhower, McCone has been a frequent White House visitor and is a fellow member of Washington's Burning Tree Country Club. He is a Republican.

Motor Trouble:

Macmillan's Plane Returns To London

LONDON (AP)—An airliner taking Prime Minister Macmillan to the United States turned back because of engine trouble early Saturday. It landed safely on three engines about two hours after it had left London airport.

A British Overseas Airways Corp. spokesman said the trouble in the No. 1 engine was not serious.

The plane had gone about 300 miles toward New York.

Macmillan is to spend eight days in the United States and Canada.

He and President Eisenhower are expected to give top emphasis in their Washington talks to the Soviet Union's economic offensive.

Airport sources estimated the plane had flown across England and Wales and was about to start the long Atlantic hop when the engine trouble was discovered.

Another plane was standing by at the airport. The British Overseas Airways Corp. planned to transfer the Prime Minister and his party to second craft if an examination of the faulty engine showed a need for extensive repairs.

Macmillan was accompanied by his wife, Lady Dorothy, and nine personal and political aides. Before leaving, he told reporters at the airport:

"It is a very good moment, I think, to talk things over in an informal and friendly way with my old friend the President of the United States and with the Prime Minister of Canada. I don't intend to have formal conferences but just to meet and talk over the different problems of the day. That is in my view a much easier way than messages and telegrams."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's recent offer to Washington for a trade pact was regarded by many here as timed carefully to coincide with the Eisenhower - Macmillan talks.

The Prime Minister is under heavy pressure at home to step up trade with the Russians and to press for the relaxing of further restrictions in trade with the Communist bloc.

Macmillan is known to feel that cooperation in the economic defenses of the free world is just as important as military defense.

From Washington, Macmillan will go to Ottawa for talks with Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker about the Commonwealth economic conference to be held in Montreal this fall.

Father Slain For Spanking

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Ten-year-old Paul Sims told Friday how he shot his rancher father in the back because of a spanking two weeks ago for running away to see Rattlesnake Draw, a canyon near their home.

Paul told officers he shot his father, William H. Sims, 42, with a .32-caliber rifle because his father spanked him and his brother, Leroy, 8.

The father, his back turned while hoeing, groaned and fell dead, he said.

Young Paul was held in Lea County Jail for action by juvenile authorities. His brother was released to an uncle.

The shooting occurred late Thursday on the Sims ranch, 10 miles south of Eunice, N.M.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Jack Love said the boys told officers their father had said he would take them to see Rattlesnake Draw if they would help hoe weeds. They had been spanked for going to the canyon on their own. While Sims was working in the garden, the brothers went to the ranch house where Paul took down an old .32-caliber rifle. Leroy found a box of shells. Leroy went back to his father and Paul hid in a tree about 40 feet behind where their father was stooped over working.

Love quoted the boys that Leroy pointed a finger at their father's back and Paul fired.

Welch Opponent Of Sen. Mansfield

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Republican Lou W. Welch, 31-year-old political unknown, apparently will oppose the Democratic Sen. A. S. Mike Mansfield in Montana's general election.

Welch, who tried two years ago for a congressional nomination, is a millman for the Anaconda Co.

Complete but unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary give Welch an 82-vote edge over his rival, Mrs. Blanche S. Anderson, 62 - year - old Helena widow and grandmother, for the GOP Senate nomination.

Six Are Sentenced

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A military court Friday sentenced six Lebanese to death on charges of smuggling arms from Syria into Lebanon. The court then reduced the sentences to life imprisonment.

M'Elroy Hints Military Won't Use All Monies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy hinted broadly Friday that the Eisenhower administration may not spend all the money it gets for military manpower if the Senate goes along with the House total.

The House passed and sent to the Senate Thursday a $38,409,561,000 defense money bill which, among other things, carries about 226 million dollars more than President Eisenhower asked for manpower in the Army, the Marines and the National Guard.

There was the unusual sight of a Cabinet officer appearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to say in effect: Give us less money than the House voted.

McElroy and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the senators adequate forces are on hand to fight major or brush-fire wars anywhere in the world.

McElroy conceded Congress has a right to vote the sprawling defense establishment more money than it asks in the interest of providing what he termed additional flexibility.

But he added: "We would not regard any such action as a mandate to pursue the various programs on a crash basis without regard to feasibility or desirability."

That means the administration wouldn't feel obliged to spend all the money if Congress gives it more than was asked. Some defense funds have been impounded at times in the past.

Art Jury Travels Via Wheel Chair

CHICAGO (AP)—A five-man art jury Thursday set out on a three-day trip in wheel chairs to select winners of the 1958 artists exhibition at Navy Pier.

They will view 1¼-miles of exhibits—2,000 paintings and sculptures.

The number of Chicago area amateurs and professional artists entered in the show make it the largest ever held in the United States.

Each artist was permitted to hang one work whether or not the jury approved it.

"This gives an artist who has anything on the ball a chance to get somewhere," said Victor H. Perlmutter, director of the show.

President Seeks Extra Military Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has asked Congress for an extra $590,023,000 to help finance increases in military pay.

He requested the money for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Eisenhower signed a military pay increase bill on May 20. The increases went into effect last Sunday.

Dulles Says Russia Would Reduce Arms

Not Optimistic Over Prospects Of Summit Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Friday the Soviet Union would like to reduce its burden of armaments and that this holds some hope of reaching significant agreements.

Dulles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he is not optimistic over the prospects of a summit conference with the Soviet Union in the near future, however.

"We do not believe that the 'cold war' can be ended by a formula of words," he said, "so long as the basic creed of international communism requires world rule."

In a general review of U.S. foreign policy, Dulles told the senators "we have been encouraged" by the Soviet acceptance of some recent proposals and believe that, if "we patiently persist along sound lines, some significant agreements may emerge."

Nothing Developed

Dulles said nothing has developed from exploratory talks in Moscow so far that has led him to believe a summit meeting would produce results that could not be reached by other diplomatic means.

Prospects for a Big Four chiefs of government meeting are now being canvassed in the Soviet capital by the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Dulles noted these talks have only just begun, but he counseled against accepting any Soviet view that a summit meeting should be held simply because the Russians want one.

While seeing encouragement in some Soviet moves, Dulles said the Soviet Union persists in evading or rejecting all Western proposals which would effectively limit or reduce Soviet military power.

Want To Reduce

"We do believe that the Soviet Union, like the United States, would like to reduce the economic burden of modern armaments. We also believe that the Soviet Union, under present conditions does not want war. Therefore, some common ground exists," he added.

On the encouraging side, Dulles cited the Soviet agreement to join in scientific studies of ways of policing an agreement to suspend atomic tests and Soviet acceptance of a U.S. proposal to confer on neutralizing the antarctic for scientific purposes.

Yugoslavia Blasts Red China Attacks

BELGRADE (AP)—Communist Yugoslavia blasted Red China Friday for attacks on Yugoslav leaders.

Government spokesman Jaksa Petric declared the attacks do not lag behind those directed against Yugoslavia after it was expelled from the Soviet-run Cominform in 1948.

The Chinese try to substitute the lack of arguments with shouts and curses, Petric told a news conference.

Most Of Money Spilled On Windy Corner Recovered

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Toss $1,100 in small bills into the air on a windy day at a busy street corner and how much would you get back?

Anthony Culina, a bartender, tried the experiment by accident Thursday when the money spilled from a paper bag in front of a bank. Friday he deposited $1,065—a loss of $35. "Boy, was I lucky," he said. Two policemen and a passerby helped collect the money.

Lebanon Seeks U.N. Action Against Nasser

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The pro-Western government of Lebanon declared Friday that only the U. N. can prevent the United Arab Republic from wiping out Lebanese independence.

Foreign Minister Charles Malik told the 11-nation Security Council: "We cannot protect ourselves alone. . .you are our last recourse."

He laid before the Council a 10,000 - word indictment of President Nasser's U.A.R. government which he charged with constantly increasing interference in Lebanese internal politics.

"We have tried direct contacts with the United Arab Republic, but without avail," Malik said.

"We resorted to the Arab League and we gave it all opportunity to act, but no decision was taken, and the intervention, far from abating, has actually increased in intensity in the last day or two.

"Now our independence, our fate, and peace in the area and perhaps even in the world, are your responsibility."

The Lebanese diplomat offered no specific suggestions as to what the Council should do to halt the acts which he outlined in detail. These were listed primarily as the smuggling of arms to Lebanese rebels, the training of subversives and a constant blast of inflammatory broadcasts from Cairo and Damascus.

U.A.R. Ambassador Omar Loutfi said his government rejects all charges that it is interfering in Lebanon's affairs.

"Nobody threatens Lebanon," he declared.

Loutfi charged that Lebanon had tried to give an international aspect to a purely domestic political fight so that the U. N. could be brought into the picture.

Bread, Meat, Milk Short In Warsaw

Ike, Macmillan Plan 'Copter Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan plan to fly to Baltimore by helicopter next Tuesday for the commencement address MacMillan will make at Johns Hopkins University.

The White House said today the President and MacMillan will go by automobile if the weather is unfavorable.

Senate Beats Back Attempt To Trim Bill

Ellender Proposal Goes Down, 46-24; Military Aid Cut

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed its $3,713,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill at a marathon session Friday night after rejecting all attempts to make any major cuts in the spending total or to limit the scope of the program.

The roll call vote was 51 to 17.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate defeated 46-24 Friday night a move to trim from the foreign aid program half a billion dollars of the amount President Eisenhower asked for arms aid to U. S. allies.

A proposal by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) to cut that amount went down to defeat as the Senate strove toward final action on the $3,712,900,000 authorization bill.

Eisenhower originally asked for $1,800,000,000 in military assistance, but the House cut this by 200 millions. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee raised the ceiling back to the $1,800,000,000.

Subsequently, the Senate adopted 43-28 another amendment by Ellender cutting military assistance to $1,600,000,000, the amount voted by the House.

How it would effect the total in the bill depended on subsequent action on other Ellender amendments.

Endorse Pledge

Earlier, the Senate endorsed 54-22 a congressional pledge of continued help for India to complete its economic development program.

It also refused 54-22 to write into the $3,712,900,000 foreign aid bill an outright ban on any further assistance to Communist Poland and Yugoslavia.

This country has been giving Poland and Yugoslavia some arms aid in the hope that it will enable Yugoslavia to remain independent of Moscow and Poland to become more so.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, sought to shut off this aid, saying he is against all communism and all assistance to communism.

It was Bridges, too, who moved to delete from the bill a pledge to continue assistance to India's economic development.

Bridges argued it would be a "slap in the face" to other nations to single out India for special economic help.

Centers On Nelson

But much of the debate centered on Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev) said "Nehru is a Communist and doesn't even know it."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky), former ambassador to India, said that was not true. "I know this if I know anything, that he is not a Communist," Cooper said. "I'd risk my judgment, my belief on that."

Sen. Thruston Morton (R-Ky), a former assistant secretary of state said, "I think this fellow Nehru is just about as phony as a $3 bill. . . . I've got no use for him."

But Morton said that whether this country likes it or not, the uncommitted peoples of Asia are following Nehru. And he said he agreed with other senators that a India goes, so will go other uncommitted peoples in the cold war struggle with Soviet Russia.

Bridges' move was aimed at a policy declaration in the bill rather than at any earmaking of money.

Seasonal Work Causes Decline In Unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Friday reported a brighter picture last month in employment figures.

It listed 64,061,000 employed, up 1,154,000 from April, and 4,904,000 unemployed, a better than expected decline of 216,000.

It was the first time since last January that the number of unemployed dropped below five million.

The proportion of idle workers in the labor force declined from 7.5 to 7.2 per cent after allowances for seasonal factors. This meaningful statistic had been climbing steadily since last summer.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell expressed confidence in the strength and resiliency of the American economy and predicted significant improvement by this fall. He spoke at Geneva, Switzerland, where he is attending a meeting.

The improved May job situation was attributed by the Commerce and Labor departments mainly to seasonal expansion in farming, construction and other outdoor work that was delayed by severe winter weather, and in service activities.

Even among factory workers — where recession effects have been most severe—there were encouraging signs. Factory employment dropped 67,000 in May, but this was the smallest decline in many months. Government analysts concluded that factory layoffs have leveled out.

But the total of the long-term unemployed in all industries showed improvement. Those idle 15 weeks or more, out of the 4,904,000 unemployed, declined to an estimated 1,750,000, down 135,000 from the April peak.

Officials cautioned that unemployment is likely to jump back above the five million mark, perhaps close to six million, in June or July as students on vacation enter the labor force in search of summertime jobs.

Check Shrinks Death List To 28 In Tornado's Wake

MENOMONIE, Wis. (AP)—The death list in this tornado-devastated corner of Wisconsin shrank to 28 Friday as officials neared the end of their grim task in matching the names of reported casualties to recovered bodies.

Wisconsin's Gov. Vernon W. Thomson, who viewed the stricken communities Thursday, after conferring with state and federal aid agencies said, "All that can be done is being done."

He added a fourth county—Clark—to the three that he previously asked President Eisenhower to declare disaster areas. The Small Business Administration meanwhile announced in Washington that it would establish a disaster loan office in Colfax, hardest hit of the villages in the path of Wednesday night's shattering storm.

It was at Colfax that Red Cross officials, cross-checking casualty reports Friday, found that a single dead child—Leon Lunn—had been entered three times on the death list. An unidentified truck driver listed as a victim turned up alive, and Mrs. Rolf Lunn, 21-year-old Great Falls, Mont., woman who was visiting relatives, died of injuries.

Kenneth M. O'Connor, mid western area representative of the Red Cross, said that plenty of food housing and clothing is available for the present.

The Red Cross estimated that 615 families were affected in some way in the four counties, with 259 homes wiped out by the winds.

A total of 173 farm buildings were destroyed.

Some 350 persons were injured during the storm, with 145 hospitalized for varying periods as a result. Scores of others were given emergency treatment and released.

Navy Launches New Carrier

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy's newest pride, the 60,000-ton aircraft carrier Independence, was christened and got her first taste of the sea Friday.

There was no actual launching, but a symbolic one for the ship, built in a drydock at the Navy Yard in Brooklyn rather than on conventional ways.

As Mrs. Thomas S. Gates Jr., wife of the Navy secretary, cracked a bottle of New York State champagne across her bow, enough water was let into the dock to wet the ship's keel.

The vessel will be fully floated when further work is done. The ship, built to carry more than 100 jet planes, is expected to be completed in January.

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Ten-year-old Paul Sims told Friday how he shot his rancher father in the back because of a spanking two weeks ago for running away to see Rattlesnake Draw, a canyon near their home.

Paul told officers he shot his father, William H. Sims, 42, with a .32-caliber rifle because his father spanked him and his brother, Leroy, 8.

The father, his back turned while hoeing, groaned and fell dead, he said.

Young Paul was held in Lea County Jail for action by juvenile authorities. His brother was released to an uncle.

The shooting occurred late Thursday on the Sims ranch, 10 miles south of Eunice, N.M.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Jack Love said the boys told officers their father had said he would take them to see Rattlesnake Draw if they would help hoe weeds. They had been spanked for going to the canyon on their own. While Sims was working in the garden, the brothers went to the ranch house where Paul took down an old .32-caliber rifle. Leroy found a box of shells. Leroy went back to his father and Paul hid in a tree about 40 feet behind where their father was stooped over working.

Love quoted the boys that Leroy pointed a finger at their father's back and Paul fired.

M'Elroy Hints Military Won't Use All Monies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy hinted broadly Friday that the Eisenhower administration may not spend all the money it gets for military manpower if the Senate goes along with the House total.

The House passed and sent to the Senate Thursday a $38,409,561,000 defense money bill which, among other things, carries about 226 million dollars more than President Eisenhower asked for manpower in the Army, the Marines and the National Guard.

There was the unusual sight of a Cabinet officer appearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to say in effect: Give us less money than the House voted.

McElroy and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the senators adequate forces are on hand to fight major or brush-fire wars anywhere in the world.

McElroy conceded Congress has a right to vote the sprawling defense establishment more money than it asks in the interest of providing what he termed additional flexibility.

But he added: "We would not regard any such action as a mandate to pursue the various programs on a crash basis without regard to feasibility or desirability."

That means the administration wouldn't feel obliged to spend all the money if Congress gives it more than was asked. Some defense funds have been impounded at times in the past.

Art Jury Travels Via Wheel Chair

CHICAGO (AP)—A five-man art jury Thursday set out on a three-day trip in wheel chairs to select winners of the 1958 artists exhibition at Navy Pier.

They will view 1¼-miles of exhibits—2,000 paintings and sculptures.

The number of Chicago area amateurs and professional artists entered in the show make it the largest ever held in the United States.

Each artist was permitted to hang one work whether or not the jury approved it.

"This gives an artist who has anything on the ball a chance to get somewhere," said Victor H. Perlmutter, director of the show.

President Seeks Extra Military Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has asked Congress for an extra $590,023,000 to help finance increases in military pay.

He requested the money for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Eisenhower signed a military pay increase bill on May 20. The increases went into effect last Sunday.

Dulles Says Russia Would Reduce Arms

Not Optimistic Over Prospects Of Summit Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Friday the Soviet Union would like to reduce its burden of armaments and that this holds some hope of reaching significant agreements.

Dulles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he is not optimistic over the prospects of a summit conference with the Soviet Union in the near future, however.

"We do not believe that the 'cold war' can be ended by a formula of words," he said, "so long as the basic creed of international communism requires world rule."

In a general review of U.S. foreign policy, Dulles told the senators "we have been encouraged" by the Soviet acceptance of some recent proposals and believe that, if "we patiently persist along sound lines, some significant agreements may emerge."

Nothing Developed

Dulles said nothing has developed from exploratory talks in Moscow so far that has led him to believe a summit meeting would produce results that could not be reached by other diplomatic means.

Prospects for a Big Four chiefs of government meeting are now being canvassed in the Soviet capital by the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Dulles noted these talks have only just begun, but he counseled against accepting any Soviet view that a summit meeting should be held simply because the Russians want one.

While seeing encouragement in some Soviet moves, Dulles said the Soviet Union persists in evading or rejecting all Western proposals which would effectively limit or reduce Soviet military power.

Want To Reduce

"We do believe that the Soviet Union, like the United States, would like to reduce the economic burden of modern armaments. We also believe that the Soviet Union, under present conditions does not want war. Therefore, some common ground exists," he added.

On the encouraging side, Dulles cited the Soviet agreement to join in scientific studies of ways of policing an agreement to suspend atomic tests and Soviet acceptance of a U.S. proposal to confer on neutralizing the antarctic for scientific purposes.

Yugoslavia Blasts Red China Attacks

BELGRADE (AP)—Communist Yugoslavia blasted Red China Friday for attacks on Yugoslav leaders.

Government spokesman Jaksa Petric declared the attacks do not lag behind those directed against Yugoslavia after it was expelled from the Soviet-run Cominform in 1948.

The Chinese try to substitute the lack of arguments with shouts and curses, Petric told a news conference.

Most Of Money Spilled On Windy Corner Recovered

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Toss $1,100 in small bills into the air on a windy day at a busy street corner and how much would you get back?

Anthony Culina, a bartender, tried the experiment by accident Thursday when the money spilled from a paper bag in front of a bank. Friday he deposited $1,065—a loss of $35. "Boy, was I lucky," he said. Two policemen and a passerby helped collect the money.

Lebanon Seeks U.N. Action Against Nasser

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The pro-Western government of Lebanon declared Friday that only the U. N. can prevent the United Arab Republic from wiping out Lebanese independence.

Foreign Minister Charles Malik told the 11-nation Security Council: "We cannot protect ourselves alone. . .you are our last recourse."

He laid before the Council a 10,000 - word indictment of President Nasser's U.A.R. government which he charged with constantly increasing interference in Lebanese internal politics.

"We have tried direct contacts with the United Arab Republic, but without avail," Malik said.

"We resorted to the Arab League and we gave it all opportunity to act, but no decision was taken, and the intervention, far from abating, has actually increased in intensity in the last day or two.

"Now our independence, our fate, and peace in the area and perhaps even in the world, are your responsibility."

The Lebanese diplomat offered no specific suggestions as to what the Council should do to halt the acts which he outlined in detail. These were listed primarily as the smuggling of arms to Lebanese rebels, the training of subversives and a constant blast of inflammatory broadcasts from Cairo and Damascus.

U.A.R. Ambassador Omar Loutfi said his government rejects all charges that it is interfering in Lebanon's affairs.

"Nobody threatens Lebanon," he declared.

Loutfi charged that Lebanon had tried to give an international aspect to a purely domestic political fight so that the U. N. could be brought into the picture.

Bread, Meat, Milk Short In Warsaw

WARSAW (AP)—Bread, meat, butter and milk are running short in Warsaw stores again. And the capital's million people are angry about it. The reason — as usual with Poland's periodic food shortages—seems to be chaos in the Communist distribution system rather than any shortage of supplies.

Ike, Macmillan Plan 'Copter Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan plan to fly to Baltimore by helicopter next Tuesday for the commencement address MacMillan will make at Johns Hopkins University.

Check Shrinks Death List To 28 In Tornado's Wake

MENOMONIE, Wis. (AP)—The death list in this tornado-devastated corner of Wisconsin shrank to 28 Friday as officials neared the end of their grim task in matching the names of reported casualties to recovered bodies.

Wisconsin's Gov. Vernon W. Thomson, who viewed the stricken communities Thursday, after conferring with state and federal aid agencies said, "All that can be done is being done."

He added a fourth county—Clark—to the three that he previously asked President Eisenhower to declare disaster areas. The Small Business Administration meanwhile announced in Washington that it would establish a disaster loan office in Colfax, hardest hit of the villages in the path of Wednesday night's shattering storm.

It was at Colfax that Red Cross officials, cross-checking casualty reports Friday, found that a single dead child—Leon Lunn—had been entered three times on the death list. An unidentified truck driver listed as a victim turned up alive. and Mrs. Rolf Lunn, 21-year-old Great Falls, Mont., woman who was visiting relatives, died of injuries.

Kenneth M. O'Connor, mid western area representative of the Red Cross, said that plenty of food housing and clothing is available for the present.

The Red Cross estimated that 615 families were affected in some way in the four counties, with 259 homes wiped out by the winds.

A total of 173 farm buildings were destroyed.

Some 350 persons were injured during the storm, with 145 hospitalized for varying periods as a result. Scores of others were given emergency treatment and released.

Seasonal Work Causes Decline In Unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Friday reported a brighter picture last month in employment figures.

It listed 64,061,000 employed, up 1,154,000 from April, and 4,904,000 unemployed, a better than expected decline of 216,000.

It was the first time since last January that the number of unemployed dropped below five million.

The proportion of idle workers in the labor force declined from 7.5 to 7.2 per cent after allowances for seasonal factors. This meaningful statistic had been climbing steadily since last summer.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell expressed confidence in the strength and resiliency of the American economy and predicted significant improvement by this fall. He spoke at Geneva, Switzerland, where he is attending a meeting.

The improved May job situation was attributed by the Commerce and Labor departments mainly to seasonal expansion in farming, construction and other outdoor work that was delayed by severe winter weather, and in service activities.

Even among factory workers — where recession effects have been most severe—there were encouraging signs. Factory employment dropped 67,000 in May, but this was the smallest decline in many months. Government analysts concluded that factory layoffs have leveled out.

But the total of the long-term unemployed in all industries showed improvement. Those idle 15 weeks or more, out of the 4,904,000 unemployed, declined to an estimated 1,750,000, down 135,000 from the April peak.

Officials cautioned that unemployment is likely to jump back above the five million mark, perhaps close to six million, in June or July as students on vacation enter the labor force in search of summertime jobs.

Senate Beats Back Attempt To Trim Bill

Ellender Proposal Goes Down, 46-24; Military Aid Cut

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed its $3,713,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill at a marathon session Friday night after rejecting all attempts to make any major cuts in the spending total or to limit the scope of the program.

The roll call vote was 51 to 17.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate defeated 46-24 Friday night a move to trim from the foreign aid program half a billion dollars of the amount President Eisenhower asked for arms aid to U. S. allies.

A proposal by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) to cut that amount went down to defeat as the Senate strove toward final action on the $3,712,900,000 authorization bill.

Eisenhower originally asked for $1,800,000,000 in military assistance, but the House cut this by 200 millions. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee raised the ceiling back to the $1,800,000,000.

Subsequently, the Senate adopted 43-28 another amendment by Ellender cutting military assistance to $1,600,000,000, the amount voted by the House.

How it would effect the total in the bill depended on subsequent action on other Ellender amendments.

Endorse Pledge

Earlier, the Senate endorsed 54-22 a congressional pledge of continued help for India to complete its economic development program.

It also refused 54-22 to write into the $3,712,900,000 foreign aid bill an outright ban on any further assistance to Communist Poland and Yugoslavia.

This country has been giving Poland and Yugoslavia some arms aid in the hope that it will enable Yugoslavia to remain independent of Moscow and Poland to become more so.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, sought to shut off this aid, saying he is against all communism and all assistance to communism.

It was Bridges, too, who moved to delete from the bill a pledge to continue assistance to India's economic development.

Bridges argued it would be a "slap in the face" to other nations to single out India for special economic help.

Centers On Nelson

But much of the debate centered on Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev) said "Nehru is a Communist and doesn't even know it."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky), former ambassador to India, said that was not true. "I know this if I know anything, that he is not a Communist," Cooper said. "I'd risk my judgment, my belief on that."

Sen. Thruston Morton (R-Ky), a former assistant secretary of state said, "I think this fellow Nehru is just about as phony as a $3 bill. . . . I've got no use for him."

But Morton said that whether this country likes it or not, the uncommitted peoples of Asia are following Nehru. And he said he agreed with other senators that a India goes, so will go other uncommitted peoples in the cold war struggle with Soviet Russia.

Bridges' move was aimed at a policy declaration in the bill rather than at any earmaking of money.

Navy Launches New Carrier

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy's newest pride, the 60,000-ton aircraft carrier Independence, was christened and got her first taste of the sea Friday.

There was no actual launching, but a symbolic one for the ship, built in a drydock at the Navy Yard in Brooklyn rather than on conventional ways.

As Mrs. Thomas S. Gates Jr., wife of the Navy secretary, cracked a bottle of New York State champagne across her bow, enough water was let into the dock to wet the ship's keel.

The vessel will be fully floated when further work is done. The ship, built to carry more than 100 jet planes, is expected to be completed in January.

State Police Capture Two Young Escapees

BEL AIR, Md. (AP)—Six state police officers, acting on an anonymous tip, Friday night captured two young prisoners who had escaped from an Eastern Shore sheriff.

The two 17-year-olds, Gene Horner and James Smullen, were flushed from a wooded area behind a motel on U.S. 40 near the Baltimore-Harford County line.

Dirty from walking and each wearing a handcuff on one wrist, the two youths were held in Harford County Jail here for authorities at the Maryland Reformatory for Males at Hagerstown.

State Police Lt. W. T. Hanley of the Benson barracks, gave this account of the capture:

"We got a call from Salisbury at approximately 7:50 p.m. that a friend of the two boys in Salisbury—who will remain anonymous—had received a call from them from a Lyric phone number. We checked and found it to be a pay telephone in the rear of the Vagabond Motel, which is on Route 40 just south of the Baltimore-Harford County line.

"I ordered a check of the telephone number, then took myself and five men and surrounded the rear of the place in a wooded area.

"At a given moment, another trooper and myself walked through the motel to the rear and flushed them out in the field. They were apprehended by troopers posted in the rear; Trooper G. T. Hall grabbed them."

Lt. Hanley said the two youths had little to say but apparently spent most of their time walking, mostly along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks where they were captured.

He said authorities both at Salisbury and at the reformatory were notified that the boys were in custody. The pair was being taken from Salisbury to the reformatory Thursday when they got away from Sheriff Jesse M. Pollitt of Wicomico County.

Pollitt explained at Salisbury that the youths, members of "The Cats" gang which specialized in breaking and entering, bolted from him when he stopped at a service station near here to buy the prisoners something to eat.

Pollitt said he allowed the boys to step out of the car when he went to make the purchase.

"They are a mean couple," he said, "and one of them even refused to eat the sandwich I bought for them."

It was when Pollitt turned his back to exchange the sandwiches that the youths got away.

Handcuffed together, they ran over a hill in back of the station and in seconds were out of sight.

"It was either run and try to catch them, or shoot them," the sheriff said, "and I wasn't going to do either one."

Pollitt said he got back into his car, where his wife and a deputy sheriff, Mrs. Milton Barbon were waiting, and drove through a field to near a wooded area where he thought the boys had gone.

He spotted them near the woods, but was unable to catch them. The officer then sped to State Police headquarters to get assistance in the search.

Horner, Smullen and two other youths were arrested on charges of breaking and entering, petty larceny and malicious destruction of property. Horner and Smullen pleaded guilty, another boy was placed on probation and the fourth is awaiting trial.

Horner and Smullen were sentenced to not more than seven years each at Breathedsville.

Macmillan To Receive Degree

BALTIMORE (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of England will wear the black silk gown which once belonged to the first president of The Johns Hopkins University when he is awarded an honorary degree next week.

Macmillan and President Eisenhower will receive doctor of laws degrees at the 82nd graduation exercises on June 10. Eisenhower's brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, is president of Hopkins.

The prime minister will wear the gown once owned by Daniel Coit Gilman. Gilman was presented the robe by scholars at Oxford University, England, when Gilman was awarded a Doctor of Law degree at Oxford. The gown has the purple stripes which designate the degree.

Gilman always wore the gown when conferring degrees upon Johns Hopkins graduates. He gave the gown to the university when he retired in 1901. The gown traditionally is worn by visiting dignitaries on special occasions.

Raddock Sought Derogatory Info About Unionists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony that publisher Max Raddock hired a private detective to try to turn up derogatory information about AFL-CIO President George Meany and other top union leaders was presented Friday to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

The detective, Harold R. Danforth of New York City, said he withdrew from this project because he was unable to find out what Raddock was up to.

Danforth said Raddock claimed to represent union leaders who wanted to clean up corruption. This was in 1955.

After saying he was particularly interested in information about Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, and David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, Danforth said Raddock suddenly switched to Meany.

"It was a little confusing to me," Danforth said. "He wanted to see Meany stand up against Reuther, and asked for something to stiffen his backbone."

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) charged that Raddock and some top Carpenters Union officials secretly split a fat profit on a book publishing deal.

"This book deal amounts to a conspiracy to exploit union funds," McClellan said. He is chairman of the committee.

The committee has heard testimony that Raddock received $310,000 from the union for writing and producing a biography of its late president, William L. Hutcheson. At least $185,000 of this was called sheer profit.

The book was lavish in praise of Hutcheson and his son and successor, Maurice L. Hutcheson, who still is the union's international president.

Soviet Scientists Escape Fallout

MOSCOW (AP)—A shipload of Soviet scientists had to scurry for safety in the Pacific last week to escape radioactive rain from U.S. nuclear tests, Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said.

The Soviet research ship Vityaz, a floating laboratory, was engaged in research in connection with the International Geophysical Year, Pravda said.

Pravda said the ship was operating west of the Marianas and north of the Caroline Islands, about 2,000 miles from the U.S. nuclear test area in the Marshall Islands.

Gov. Harriman Denies Being Pal Of Baker

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman denied Friday that he was a pal of a man described as one of the nation's top labor racketeers. The charge was made by Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NJ).

"It is perfectly ridiculous to say he was a close friend," Harriman told reporters.

The governor conceded he had a fleeting hand - shaking acquaintance with the man in question, Robert (Barney) Baker, 46, a Teamsters Union organizer with a prison record.

In Detroit, Baker backed up Harriman and said: "All I ever did was shake the man's hand and he doesn't know me from Adam. I was president of Warehouse Local 730 in Washington, D.C., when Harriman ran against Kefauver in the primary election. I endorsed him and when he won, I congratulated him. That's the only time I ever met the man."

The whole controversy grew out of a chat between Ives and a Washington newspaper correspondent at a cocktail party. In a speech Thursday night at a Republican dinner, Ives said the newspaperman gave him information that one of Harriman's "closest pals is one of the leading racketeers in the United States."

Ives, an old political foe of Harriman's, said quite frankly that he hoped he could bolster his information for use against Harriman in the coming gubernatorial campaign. Harriman is seeking re-election. But Ives is leaving the Senate because of ill health.

Harriman defeated Ives for governor in 1954.

Missing Boys Were Camping

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Two junior high school boys, object of a police and Coast Guard search, were returned to their homes Friday.

Pvt. Daniel Vines of the Arlington police spotted the two 14-year-olds as they walked along Lee Highway near Falls Church.

A 13-state police alarm was sent out and the Coast Guard began a search of the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay. It was feared that the boys, who had left home Tuesday, were paddling down the Potomac in a canoe en route to a Maryland beach on the bay.

But James Griffith Jr., son of a Secret Service agent, and Joseph Hoover, both of Arlington, said when picked up that they had been camping near Leesburg, Va.

Young Hoover had left a note on his bed saying he was going away for a few days and asked his parents not to worry.

The canoe scare arose when a young friend quoted the boys as saying they knew of a shack on the bay, had access to a canoe, and were going away for a rest.

Four Sentenced In Assault Case

HANCOCK, Md. (AP) — Four Hancock men, all in their early 20s, were given 2 to 6 months in jail Friday for beating and robbing a Silver Spring motorist who asked them for help.

Magistrate E. P. Fost found them guilty of assault and larceny.

Convicted were Charles E. Trail, Walter F. Trail, David F. Boden and Gary W. Vance.

Testimony showed that Charles Stubbs, 41, of Silver Spring, asked them for a lift into town after a minor accident stalled his car on Sideling Hill Mountain. They picked him up, then made him buy some gasoline.

They turned off on a side road, the prosecution said, stopped the car, beat him, and took one suitcase.

Four Patrolmen Face Charges

The girl who made the accusations May 26 was questioned by police earlier this year in connection with the roundup of suspects in a pornography ring. Police said she will be a state witness when that case comes to trial.

State's Debt Fourth Highest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland, with a total debt of $520,274,000 in fiscal 1957, owes the fourth highest per capital debt in the nation, a Census Bureau report showed Friday.

Maryland's per person debt was estimated at $184.17. Neighboring Delaware had the highest per capita debt, 352.74, and the lowest was 70 cents for South Dakota.

The report showed Maryland ranked 20th among the highest spending states with a per capital outlay of $134.39. The state's total spending for fiscal 1957 was $379,651,000, up 14 per cent over the preceding fiscal year.

March Storm Cost Utilities Over $7 Million

BALTIMORE (AP)—The March 19-20 snowstorm which paralyzed most of Maryland cost utility companies more than seven million dollars, the Public Service Commission has been advised.

Seven electrical concerns and one telephone company reported that storm damage totaled $7,621,000. In addition revenue loss was set at $280,000.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., which serves most of Maryland, estimated equipment damage at $2,500,000 with $65,000 in revenue loss.

The Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. was the hardest hit. It set the storm damage at $3,596,000 and revenue loss at $78,000.

The reports were accompanied by recommendations of Hugh H. Hunter, PSC chief engineer, designed to cope with future storms.

He suggested that each utility should be asked to study changes made as a result of its storm experience and these reports should be filed with the PSC by Oct. 1.

Hunter said improvements are indicated in handling complaint calls, setting up emergency communication systems, and designing transmission and distribution lines.

Glaucoma To Strike Many, Survey Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — About one of every 19 men over 50 years old faces possible blindness from glaucoma, a Veterans Administration survey indicated Friday.

The VA said this emphasizes the importance of frequent and thorough eye examinations for persons in this age group so the disease can be detected in time for early treatment.

Dr. Jacques Landesberg, the clinic's chief of ophthalmology, described glaucoma as a disease in which pressure builds up within the eye. This causes progressive blindness and ultimate destruction of the optic nerve.

Report Cards For Teachers Causes Strike

WAKAYAMA, Japan (AP) — About 100,000 kids in southern Japan got a holiday Friday, and for an unheard-of reason.

Teachers are hopping mad because of a new-fangled system of report cards—report cards for teachers, not pupils. So the teachers walked out in a strike.

The government ordered the reports on teachers to weed out incompetents.

The strike closed 100 grade and high schools and turned loose 50,000 kids here.

Cafritz High Bidder On Surplus Land

WASHINGTON (AP) — Morris Cafritz, Washington real estate developer, Friday submitted a high bid of $381,000 for 46 acres of surplus government land in Riverdale, Md.

The tract was the site of Calvert Homes, a low-cost housing project of World War II. The houses were removed several years ago.

The property includes the MacAlpine mansion, erected in 1864 by the Calvert Family. Cafritz said he plans to ask that the land be zoned for commercial use. The old mansion is beyond repair and will be torn down, he said.

Police Query Injured Man

Piedmont authorities yesterday questioned a 45-year-old resident of that community who was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, after being found lying along the B&O Railroad tracks just east of the Childs Avenue crossing in Piedmont.

Bryson Cole told police he didn't remember what happened. The hospital said eight or nine sutures were used to close a head wound he sustained. His condition last night was reported as "satisfactory."

Chief of Police Charles Spiker and Officer Robert Mongold investigated. At first it was not known whether Cole was hit by a train or fell near the tracks.

He was found alongside an eastbound train that had stopped beyond the crossing and it was surmised he may have fallen while crossing between railroad cars.

The victim was listed at the hospital as Harry Cole.

Bond Posted In Assault Case

A Martins Mountain resident yesterday posted $1,000 bond for appearance before the October term of Allegany County Circuit on a charge of assault preferred by four employes of the State Roads Commission.

The man, Robin Wolford, requested a jury trial when brought before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick yesterday. Migstrate Dick issued a warrant for Wolford Thursday on the complaint of George R. Hale, George Jenkins, Joseph Footman and Philip Sonner Jr.

The SRC employes reportedly got into an altercation with Wolford, who allegedly claimed the roads group was not living up to contract terms and encroached on his property.

At the height of the argument, Wolford is said to have gone into his home and come out with a loaded shotgun. When the argument resumed the shotgun apparently was discharged accidentally, the weapon fortunately being pointed skyward at the time.

Spokesmen at the state's attorney's office said the mere possession of the weapon constituted a legal charge of assault.

State Police Capture Two Young Escapees

BEL AIR, Md. (AP)—Six state police officers, acting on an anonymous tip, Friday night captured two young prisoners who had escaped from an Eastern Shore sheriff.

The two 17-year-olds, Gene Horner and James Smullen, were flushed from a wooded area behind a motel on U.S. 40 near the Baltimore-Harford County line.

Dirty from walking and each wearing a handcuff on one wrist, the two youths were held in Harford County Jail here for authorities at the Maryland Reformatory for Males at Hagerstown.

State Police Lt. W. T. Hanley of the Benson barracks, gave this account of the capture:

"We got a call from Salisbury at approximately 7:50 p.m. that a friend of the two boys in Salisbury—who will remain anonymous—had received a call from them from a Lyric phone number. We checked and found it to be a pay telephone in the rear of the Vagabond Motel, which is on Route 40 just south of the Baltimore-Harford County line.

"I ordered a check of the telephone number, then took myself and five men and surrounded the rear of the place in a wooded area.

"At a given moment, another trooper and myself walked through the motel to the rear and flushed them out in the field. They were apprehended by troopers posted in the rear; Trooper G. T. Hall grabbed them."

Lt. Hanley said the two youths had little to say but apparently spent most of their time walking, mostly along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks where they were captured.

He said authorities both at Salisbury and at the reformatory were notified that the boys were in custody. The pair was being taken from Salisbury to the reformatory Thursday when they got away from Sheriff Jesse M. Pollitt of Wicomico County.

Pollitt explained at Salisbury that the youths, members of "The Cats" gang which specialized in breaking and entering, bolted from him when he stopped at a service station near here to buy the prisoners something to eat.

Pollitt said he allowed the boys to step out of the car when he went to make the purchase.

"They are a mean couple," he said, "and one of them even refused to eat the sandwich I bought for them."

It was when Pollitt turned his back to exchange the sandwiches that the youths got away.

Handcuffed together, they ran over a hill in back of the station and in seconds were out of sight.

"It was either run and try to catch them, or shoot them," the sheriff said, "and I wasn't going to do either one."

Pollitt said he got back into his car, where his wife and a deputy sheriff, Mrs. Milton Barbon were waiting, and drove through a field to near a wooded area where he thought the boys had gone.

He spotted them near the woods, but was unable to catch them. The officer then sped to State Police headquarters to get assistance in the search.

Horner, Smullen and two other youths were arrested on charges of breaking and entering, petty larceny and malicious destruction of property. Horner and Smullen pleaded guilty, another boy was placed on probation and the fourth is awaiting trial.

Horner and Smullen were sentenced to not more than seven years each at Breathedsville.

Macmillan To Receive Degree

BALTIMORE (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of England will wear the black silk gown which once belonged to the first president of The Johns Hopkins University when he is awarded an honorary degree next week.

Macmillan and President Eisenhower will receive doctor of laws degrees at the 82nd graduation exercises on June 10. Eisenhower's brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, is president of Hopkins.

The prime minister will wear the gown once owned by Daniel Coit Gilman. Gilman was presented the robe by scholars at Oxford University, England, when Gilman was awarded a Doctor of Law degree at Oxford. The gown has the purple stripes which designate the degree.

Gilman always wore the gown when conferring degrees upon Johns Hopkins graduates. He gave the gown to the university when he retired in 1901. The gown traditionally is worn by visiting dignitaries on special occasions.

Elliott is charged with three counts of forgery and two of grand larceny, in the amount of $1,549, in a shortage of $18,000 in agricultural accounts here on the College Park campus.

He is free under $10,000 bond.

Raddock Sought Derogatory Info About Unionists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony that publisher Max Raddock hired a private detective to try to turn up derogatory information about AFL-CIO President George Meany and other top union leaders was presented Friday to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

The detective, Harold R. Danforth of New York City, said he withdrew from this project because he was unable to find out what Raddock was up to.

Danforth said Raddock claimed to represent union leaders who wanted to clean up corruption. This was in 1955.

After saying he was particularly interested in information about Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, and David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, Danforth said Raddock suddenly switched to Meany.

"It was a little confusing to me," Danforth said. "He wanted to see Meany stand up against Reuther, and asked for something to stiffen his backbone."

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) charged that Raddock and some top Carpenters Union officials secretly split a fat profit on a book publishing deal.

"This book deal amounts to a conspiracy to exploit union funds," McClellan said. He is chairman of the committee.

The committee has heard testimony that Raddock received $310,000 from the union for writing and producing a biography of its late president, William L. Hutcheson. At least $185,000 of this was called sheer profit.

The book was lavish in praise of Hutcheson and his son and successor, Maurice L. Hutcheson, who still is the union's international president.

Soviet Scientists Escape Fallout

MOSCOW (AP)—A shipload of Soviet scientists had to scurry for safety in the Pacific last week to escape radioactive rain from U.S. nuclear tests, Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said.

The Soviet research ship Vityaz, a floating laboratory, was engaged in research in connection with the International Geophysical Year, Pravda said.

Pravda said the ship was operating west of the Marianas and north of the Caroline Islands, about 2,000 miles from the U.S. nuclear test area in the Marshall Islands.

Gov. Harriman Denies Being Pal Of Baker

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman denied Friday that he was a pal of a man described as one of the nation's top labor racketeers. The charge was made by Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NJ).

"It is perfectly ridiculous to say he was a close friend," Harriman told reporters.

The governor conceded he had a fleeting hand - shaking acquaintance with the man in question, Robert (Barney) Baker, 46, a Teamsters Union organizer with a prison record.

In Detroit, Baker backed up Harriman and said: "All I ever did was shake the man's hand and he doesn't know me from Adam. I was president of Warehouse Local 730 in Washington, D.C., when Harriman ran against Kefauver in the primary election. I endorsed him and when he won, I congratulated him. That's the only time I ever met the man."

The whole controversy grew out of a chat between Ives and a Washington newspaper correspondent at a cocktail party. In a speech Thursday night at a Republican dinner, Ives said the newspaperman gave him information that one of Harriman's "closest pals is one of the leading racketeers in the United States."

Ives, an old political foe of Harriman's, said quite frankly that he hoped he could bolster his information for use against Harriman in the coming gubernatorial campaign. Harriman is seeking re-election. But Ives is leaving the Senate because of ill health.

Harriman defeated Ives for governor in 1954.

Missing Boys Were Camping

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Two junior high school boys, object of a police and Coast Guard search, were returned to their homes Friday.

Pvt. Daniel Vines of the Arlington police spotted the two 14-year-olds as they walked along Lee Highway near Falls Church.

A 13-state police alarm was sent out and the Coast Guard began a search of the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay. It was feared that the boys, who had left home Tuesday, were paddling down the Potomac in a canoe en route to a Maryland beach on the bay.

But James Griffith Jr., son of a Secret Service agent, and Joseph Hoover, both of Arlington, said when picked up that they had been camping near Leesburg, Va.

Young Hoover had left a note on his bed saying he was going away for a few days and asked his parents not to worry.

The canoe scare arose when a young friend quoted the boys as saying they knew of a shack on the bay, had access to a canoe, and were going away for a rest.

Four Sentenced In Assault Case

HANCOCK, Md. (AP) — Four Hancock men, all in their early 20s, were given 2 to 6 months in jail Friday for beating and robbing a Silver Spring motorist who asked them for help

Magistrate E. P. Fost found them guilty of assault and larceny.

Convicted were Charles E. Trail, Walter F. Trail, David F. Boden and Gary W. Vance.

Testimony showed that Charles Stubbs, 41, of Silver Spring, asked them for a lift into town after a minor accident stalled his car on Sideling Hill Mountain. They picked him up, then made him buy some gasoline.

They turned off on a side road, the prosecution said, stopped the car, beat him, and took one suitcase.

Four Patrolmen Face Charges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Departmental charges were filed Friday against four patrolmen of the Police Department's Traffic Division. A 19-year-old girl last week accused them of immoral conduct.

The officers, to be given a hearing June 16 before Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron, are: William S. Church, 37; John E. Virts, 35; James A. Boswell, and Edward L. Burgan.

The girl who made the accusations May 26 was questioned by police earlier this year in connection with the roundup of suspects in a pornography ring. Police said she will be a state witness when that case comes to trial.

State's Debt Fourth Highest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland, with a total debt of $520,274,000 in fiscal 1957, owes the fourth highest per capital debt in the nation, a Census Bureau report showed Friday.

Maryland's per person debt was estimated at $184.17. Neighboring Delaware had the highest per capita debt, 352.74, and the lowest was 70 cents for South Dakota.

The report showed Maryland ranked 20th among the highest spending states with a per capital outlay of $134.39. The state's total spending for fiscal 1957 was $379,651,000, up 14 per cent over the preceding fiscal year.

March Storm Cost Utilities Over $7 Million

BALTIMORE (AP)—The March 19-20 snowstorm which paralyzed most of Maryland cost utility companies more than seven million dollars, the Public Service Commission has been advised.

Seven electrical concerns and one telephone company reported that storm damage totaled $7,621,000. In addition revenue loss was set at $280,000.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., which serves most of Maryland, estimated equipment damage at $2,500,000 with $65,000 in revenue loss.

The Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. was the hardest hit. It set the storm damage at $3,596,000 and revenue loss at $78,000.

The reports were accompanied by recommendations of Hugh H. Hunter, PSC chief engineer, designed to cope with future storms.

He suggested that each utility should be asked to study changes made as a result of its storm experience and these reports should be filed with the PSC by Oct. 1.

Hunter said improvements are indicated in handling complaint calls, setting up emergency communication systems, and designing transmission and distribution lines.

Glaucoma To Strike Many, Survey Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — About one of every 19 men over 50 years old faces possible blindness from glaucoma, a Veterans Administration survey indicated Friday.

The VA said this emphasizes the importance of frequent and thorough eye examinations for persons in this age group so the disease can be detected in time for early treatment.

Dr. Jacques Landesberg, the clinic's chief of ophthalmology, described glaucoma as a disease in which pressure builds up within the eye. This causes progressive blindness and ultimate destruction of the optic nerve.

Report Cards For Teachers Causes Strike

WAKAYAMA, Japan (AP) — About 100,000 kids in southern Japan got a holiday Friday, and for an unheard-of reason.

Teachers are hopping mad because of a new-fangled system of report cards—report cards for teachers, not pupils. So the teachers walked out in a strike.

The government ordered the reports on teachers to weed out incompetents.

The strike closed 100 grade and high schools and turned loose 50,000 kids here.

Cafritz High Bidder On Surplus Land

WASHINGTON (AP) — Morris Cafritz, Washington real estate developer, Friday submitted a high bid of $381,000 for 46 acres of surplus government land in Riverdale, Md.

The tract was the site of Calvert Homes, a low-cost housing project of World War II. The houses were removed several years ago.

The property includes the MacAlpine mansion, erected in 1864 by the Calvert Family. Cafritz said he plans to ask that the land be zoned for commercial use. The old mansion is beyond repair and will be torn down, he said.

Police Query Injured Man

Piedmont authorities yesterday questioned a 45-year-old resident of that community who was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, after being found lying along the B&O Railroad tracks just east of the Childs Avenue crossing in Piedmont.

Bryson Cole told police he didn't remember what happened. The hospital said eight or nine sutures were used to close a head wound he sustained. His condition last night was reported as "satisfactory."

Chief of Police Charles Spiker and Officer Robert Mongold investigated. At first it was not known whether Cole was hit by a train or fell near the tracks.

He was found alongside an eastbound train that had stopped beyond the crossing and it was surmised he may have fallen while crossing between railroad cars.

The victim was listed at the hospital as Harry Cole.

Bond Posted In Assault Case

A Martins Mountain resident yesterday posted $1,000 bond for appearance before the October term of Allegany County Circuit on a charge of assault preferred by four employes of the State Roads Commission.

The man, Robin Wolford, requested a jury trial when brought before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick yesterday. Migstrate Dick issued a warrant for Wolford Thursday on the complaint of George R. Hale, George Jenkins, Joseph Footman and Philip Sonner Jr.

The SRC employes reportedly got into an altercation with Wolford, who allegedly claimed the roads group was not living up to contract terms and encroached on his property.

At the height of the argument, Wolford is said to have gone into his home and come out with a loaded shotgun. When the argument resumed the shotgun apparently was discharged accidentally, the weapon fortunately being pointed skyward at the time.

Spokesmen at the state's attorney's office said the mere possession of the weapon constituted a legal charge of assault.

One-third interest in the estate was bequeathed to Marguerite Chaney, a niece; Margaret DuVall Mahan, Indianapolis, a sister, and Memorial Hospital. The bequest to the hospital is for equipment for the institution. Personal and household effects were left to Mrs. Mahan.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Primed For Patience

It has been said that the secret of patience is to do something else in the meanwhile. In other words, keep busy. You know how long it seems when you have to wait in a busy doctor's office. If you just sit, the time really drags. The same is true when sitting under a hair dryer. But, pick up an interesting magazine and the minutes fly by.

Don't sit around waiting for that telephone to ring. You can wait and wait for that prince charming to call or for some new excitement to cross your path, and nothing happens. You know the old saying: "The watched kettle never seems to boil."

You cannot stand still. Stop and think about it . . . nothing stands still; everything gets either better or worse. This can apply to your appearance, too. If you'll give a little time, you can easily become more attractive and keep busy in the meantime.

Let us begin at the top with a very simple routine that I can bet you probably have done nothing about recently. That is, brushing your hair. You may have read volumes about the importance of it, but have you done it daily? Here are a few good reasons why you should. Brushing keeps the hair cleaner between shampoos. It lends a gloss and silken texture that can be gained in no other way. It makes the scalp function better. And it spreads the natural oil that is exuded from the little sac at the root of each hair, so that the hair won't be oily near the root and dry on the ends.

A Milestone...

The diploma, symbol of work accomplished, is one of the graduate's most cherished possessions. It signifies a milestone in life—an end, but also a beginning!

With commencement comes thoughts of life still to be lived. Knowledge alone is not enough; degrees are not enough. There must be something more.

Through the Church comes a knowledge of life lived for others, of nearness to God, of strength and power which carries one beyond the needs of the present, which makes the individual adequate for tasks too great for human strength.

In the Church you will feel a nearness to God you never felt before, and the more fully you enter into the life of the Church, the stronger you will become.

Why not have a commencement of your own now—a commencement of life in the Church?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Milestone...

The diploma, symbol of work accomplished, is one of the graduate's most cherished possessions. It signifies a milestone in life—an end, but also a beginning!

With commencement comes thoughts of life still to be lived. Knowledge alone is not enough; degrees are not enough. There must be something more.

Through the Church comes a knowledge of life lived for others, of nearness to God, of strength and power which carries one beyond the needs of the present, which makes the individual adequate for tasks too great for human strength.

In the Church you will feel a nearness to God you never felt before, and the more fully you enter into the life of the Church, the stronger you will become.

Why not have a commencement of your own now—a commencement of life in the Church?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Governor Speaks At State College

WILLIAM E. PRICE

Brings Message From State To 94 Graduates

FROSTBURG (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin said yesterday afternoon that "the base of America's greatness has not been disturbed by the temporary superiority of a potential enemy in one field of science."

"Russians may have taken the lead as space men," McKeldin said. "We remain far out in front as free men and free women."

The governor made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at graduation exercises of Frostburg State Teachers College.

McKeldin told the graduates they are entering "the great profession that builds the American kind of love and loyalty—not by preachments of propaganda—but by teaching young Americans to think for themselves and to find for themselves the power that is freedom."

The governor said there were a few—"the panicky few or the selfishly calculating few—who threw up their hands in real or feigned alarm at the news of our failures at Cape Carnaveral.

"But there were the intelligent, schooled and thinking masses of Americans who said: 'Well, at least we are getting the news—and that's more than the Russians can hope to get about their own scientific failures.'"

McKeldin said America may need some adjustments in scholastic curricula and some changes in academic stress but "these are minor changes that can be made in the gradual manner by the will of a sovereign people."

William Edward Price of Cumberland received top honors at the fifty-fifth annual commencement exercises in Compton Hall at Frostburgh State Teachers College.

Dr. William S. Livengood Jr., Harrisburg attorney and former Pennsylvania Secretary of Internal Affairs, delivered the main address. His topic was "Facing the Future." He resided in the Mountain City when his father published "The Frostburg Spirit."

R. Bowen Hardesty, college president, conferred degrees and William A. Gunter, member of the Maryland State Board of Education, awarded diplomas. Dr. Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction, presented awards.

Price and 16 other graduates compiled an average of 2.25 or better. Listed among the leading seniors, all of whom received bachelor of Science degrees, were:

James Donald Eckard, Cumberland; Patricia Anne Allen, John Allen Seaton, George Merle Seaton and Robert Paul Kloss, Frostburg; Shirley Ann Schaidt, Lonaconing; Saundra Jean Haywood, Luke; William Calvin McKenzie, Frostburg; Mildred Osborne Russell, LaVale; Myron Vaughn Wotring and William Joseph Delaney, Frostburg; Carolyn Frances Smith, Baltimore; Bonnie Mae Henson, Myersville; Fred Calvin Capps and Dale Gangawere, Frostburg, and Sarah Lou Slick, Smithsburg.

Fifteen graduates received associate of arts degree for completing two years of junior college, and 77 others were given bachelor of science degrees for completing the four-year teacher education course either elementary or junior high.

Recipients of piano certificates were Jacquelyn Ann Carder, Mary Louise Eisentrout and Beverly Carol Miller.

The exercises began with an organ prelude, "Romance," with Mrs. R. Monroe Harris at the organ. The program follows:

Processional, "Pomp and Circumstance;" singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the audience; invocation, Rev. Paul D. Caravetta, pastor of First Presbyterian Church; anthem, "Make A Joyful Noise," Maryland Singers with Gail Kesner at the organ, Judith Kompanek, pianist, and Charles I. Sager, conductor; greetings to the graduates, Hon. Theodore R. McKeldin, governor of Maryland.

Keyser Mayor Urges Better Traffic Control

Parking Meters May Be Moved

KEYSER—Some radical changes have been ordered by Mayor Richard Romig and the city council. The move is made to prevent, as far as possible the current traffic congestion in the business district.

Under the new order, Main Street from Piedmont north to Armstrong Street, will be one way and Davis Street will be a single lane, from Armstrong Street south to Piedmont Street.

There will be decided changes in placing parking meters, as the council has decided to install meters on the east side of Main Street on the one-way route on the main thoroughfare, providing parking on both sides of that street, as the traffic lane will be wider.

Parking meters on both sides of Main from Piedmont to Armstrong Street, will be adjusted to provide for a 30-minute parking time instead of the present hour for five cents.

New meters will be provided for Main Street, but some time will be required to get new meters. The council has not determined what type of meters will be purchased for the new work.

The traffic, now in use on Center Street between Main and Davis has not been changed, due to the need of traffic for the fire department, in that connecting street.

Governor Speaks At State College

WILLIAM E. PRICE

Brings Message From State To 94 Graduates

FROSTBURG (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin said yesterday afternoon that "the base of America's greatness has not been disturbed by the temporary superiority of a potential enemy in one field of science."

"Russians may have taken the lead as space men," McKeldin said. "We remain far out in front as free men and free women."

The governor made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at graduation exercises of Frostburg State Teachers College.

McKeldin told the graduates they are entering "the great profession that builds the American kind of love and loyalty—not by preachments of propaganda—but by teaching young Americans to think for themselves and to find for themselves the power that is freedom."

The governor said there were a few—"the panicky few or the selfishly calculating few—who threw up their hands in real or feigned alarm at the news of our failures at Cape Carnaveral.

"But there were the intelligent, schooled and thinking masses of Americans who said: 'Well, at least we are getting the news—and that's more than the Russians can hope to get about their own scientific failures.' "

McKeldin said America may need some adjustments in scholastic curricula and some changes in academic stress but "these are minor changes that can be made in the gradual manner by the will of a sovereign people."

William Edward Price of Cumberland received top honors at the fifty-fifth annual commencement exercises in Compton Hall at Frostburgh State Teachers College.

Dr. William S. Livengood Jr., Harrisburg attorney and former Pennsylvania Secretary of Internal Affairs, delivered the main address. His topic was "Facing the Future." He resided in the Mountain City when his father published "The Frostburg Spirit."

R. Bowen Hardesty, college president, conferred degrees and William A. Gunter, member of the Maryland State Board of Education, awarded diplomas. Dr. Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction, presented awards.

Price and 16 other graduates compiled an average of 2.25 or better. Listed among the leading seniors, all of whom received bachelor of Science degrees, were:

Caravetta, pastor of First Presbyterian Church; anthem, "Make A Joyful Noise," Maryland Singers with Gail Kesner at the organ, Judith Kompanek, pianist, and Charles I. Keyser Mayor Urges Better Traffic Control

Parking Meters May Be Moved

KEYSER—Some radical changes have been ordered by Mayor Richard Romig and the city council. The move is made to prevent, as far as possible the current traffic congestion in the business district.

Under the new order, Main Street from Piedmont north to Armstrong Street, will be one way and Davis Street will be a single lane, from Armstrong Street south to Piedmont Street.

There will be decided changes in placing parking meters, as the council has decided to install meters on the east side of Main Street on the one-way route on the main thoroughfare, providing parking on both sides of that street, as the traffic lane will be wider.

Parking meters on both sides of Main from Piedmont to Armstrong Street, will be adjusted to provide for a 30-minute parking time instead of the present hour for five cents.

New meters will be provided for Main Street, but some time will be required to get new meters. The council has not determined what type of meters will be purchased for the new work.

The traffic, now in use on Center Street between Main and Davis has not been changed, due to the need of traffic for the fire department, in that connecting street.

SPACE SHIP

Artist's conception of the rocket-powered X-15, designed to be the first plane to penetrate the outer space.

The first manned space craft is taking form.

The X-15, half-plane, half-missile, a hybrid of the hypersonic age, designed to take man to outer space and back, is now being built for the Air Force, Navy, and National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics by North American aircraft in Los Angeles.

The pencil-thin ship with wings like cleaver blades will actually be fired by its own rocket engine like a missile, to coast in a ballistic curve like an artillery shell to reach fantastic speeds and heights.

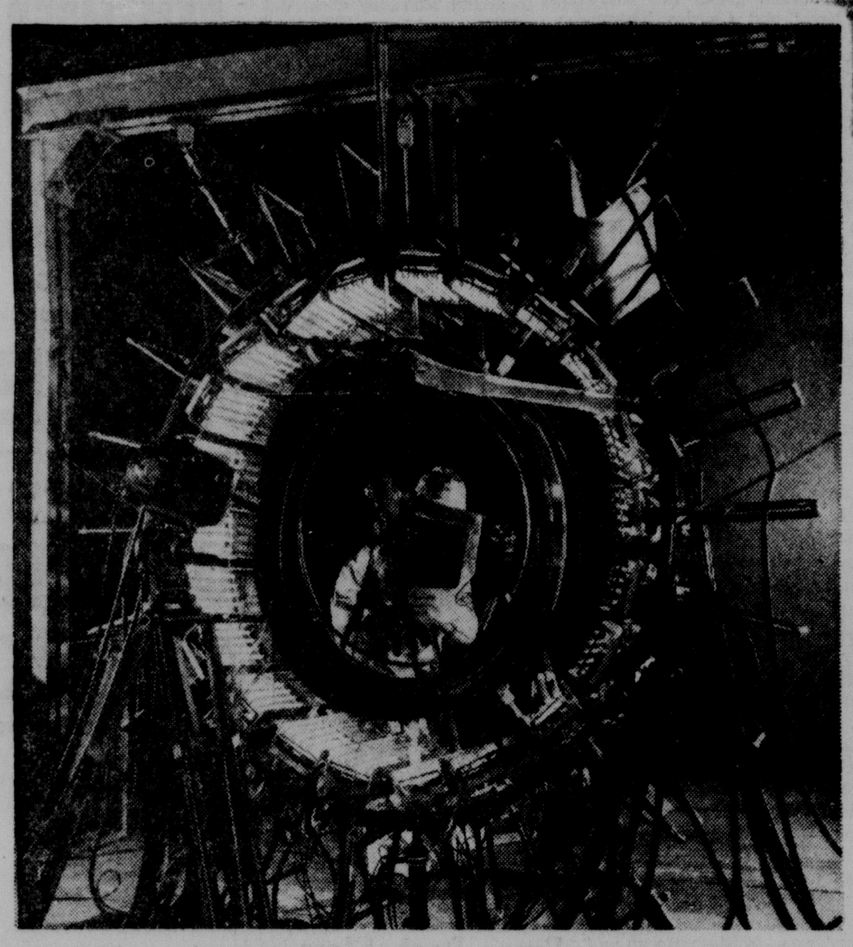

New metal alloys, such as nickel and steel, are going into its construction. They were chosen for strength and high heat resistance.

For its baptism of fire on re-entry into the atmosphere from space, the X-15 will wear a complete external armor of nickel alloy. The heat that soaks through this resistant skin will meet titanium and stainless steel on the inside. Some aluminum is used internally where high heat and high loads are not a problem.

After initial tests, the ship will be turned over to the Air Force and the NACA to study the effects of friction heat on airplanes capable of flying thousands of miles an hour, as well as control outside the atmosphere where conventional airplane controls are useless.

As a prelude to space flight it will also be used to study the psychological and physiological effects of weightlessness on the pilot.

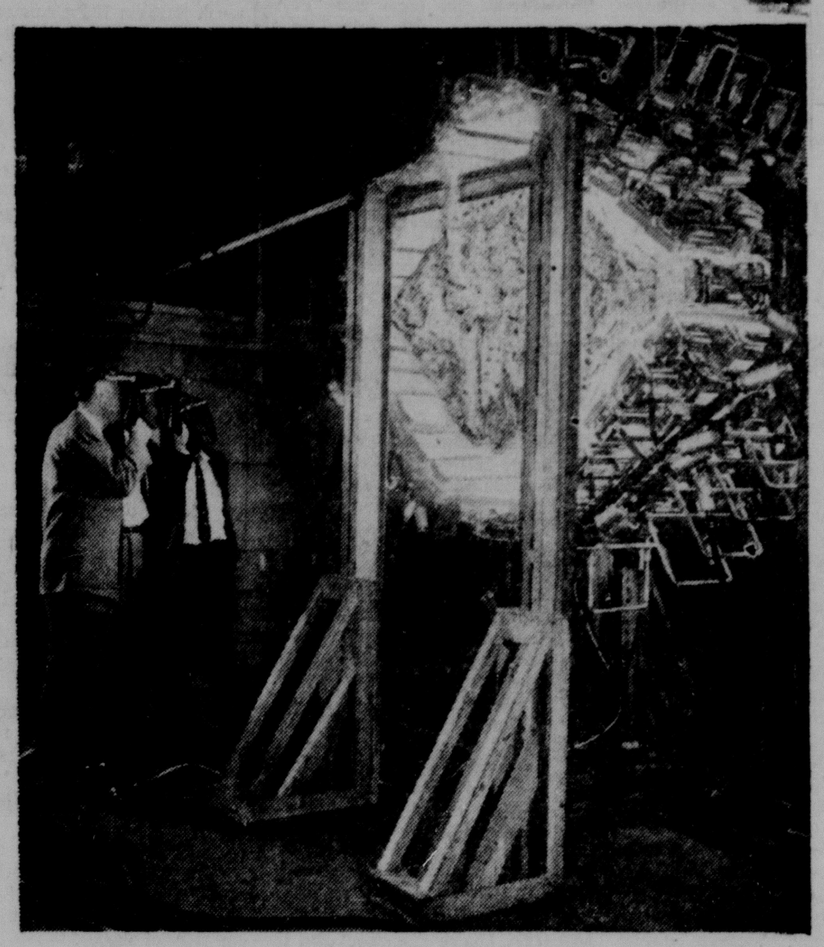

The X-15 is pictured here in its initial stages of construction.

Engineers use movie camera to study simultaneous heating and cooling of metal ring representing part of the X-15 fuselage. Infra-red lamps heat outside; inside is cooled by cold air blown through aluminum rings.

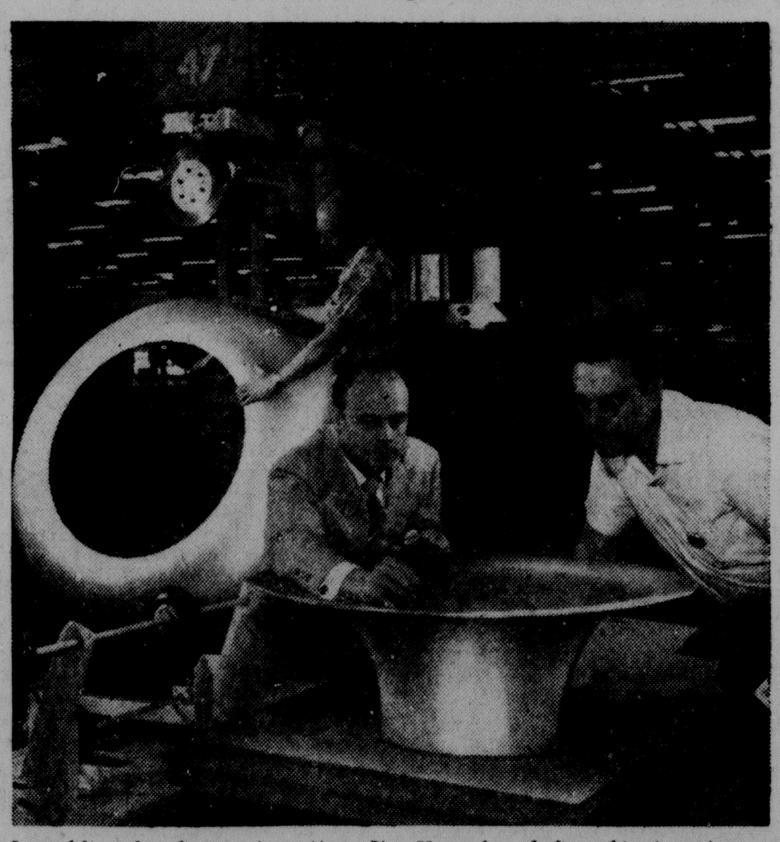

Pilot Scott Crossfield models new space suit he plans to wear during first flight of the X-15. It automatically adjusts for temperature and pressure changes that will be encountered.

Engineers study heat test on metal object representing cockpit section of the X-15. The test was conducted to determine the proper insulation to protect the pilot from heats up to 1,200 degrees Fahrenheit.

Plans of new rocket ship are studied by Charles Feltz, X-15 project engineer, and his assistants, Raun Robinson and R. L. Benner.

In welding development section, Jim Hurzeler, left, and test engineer Gordon Watts study part of cylindrical fuel tank for the X-15.

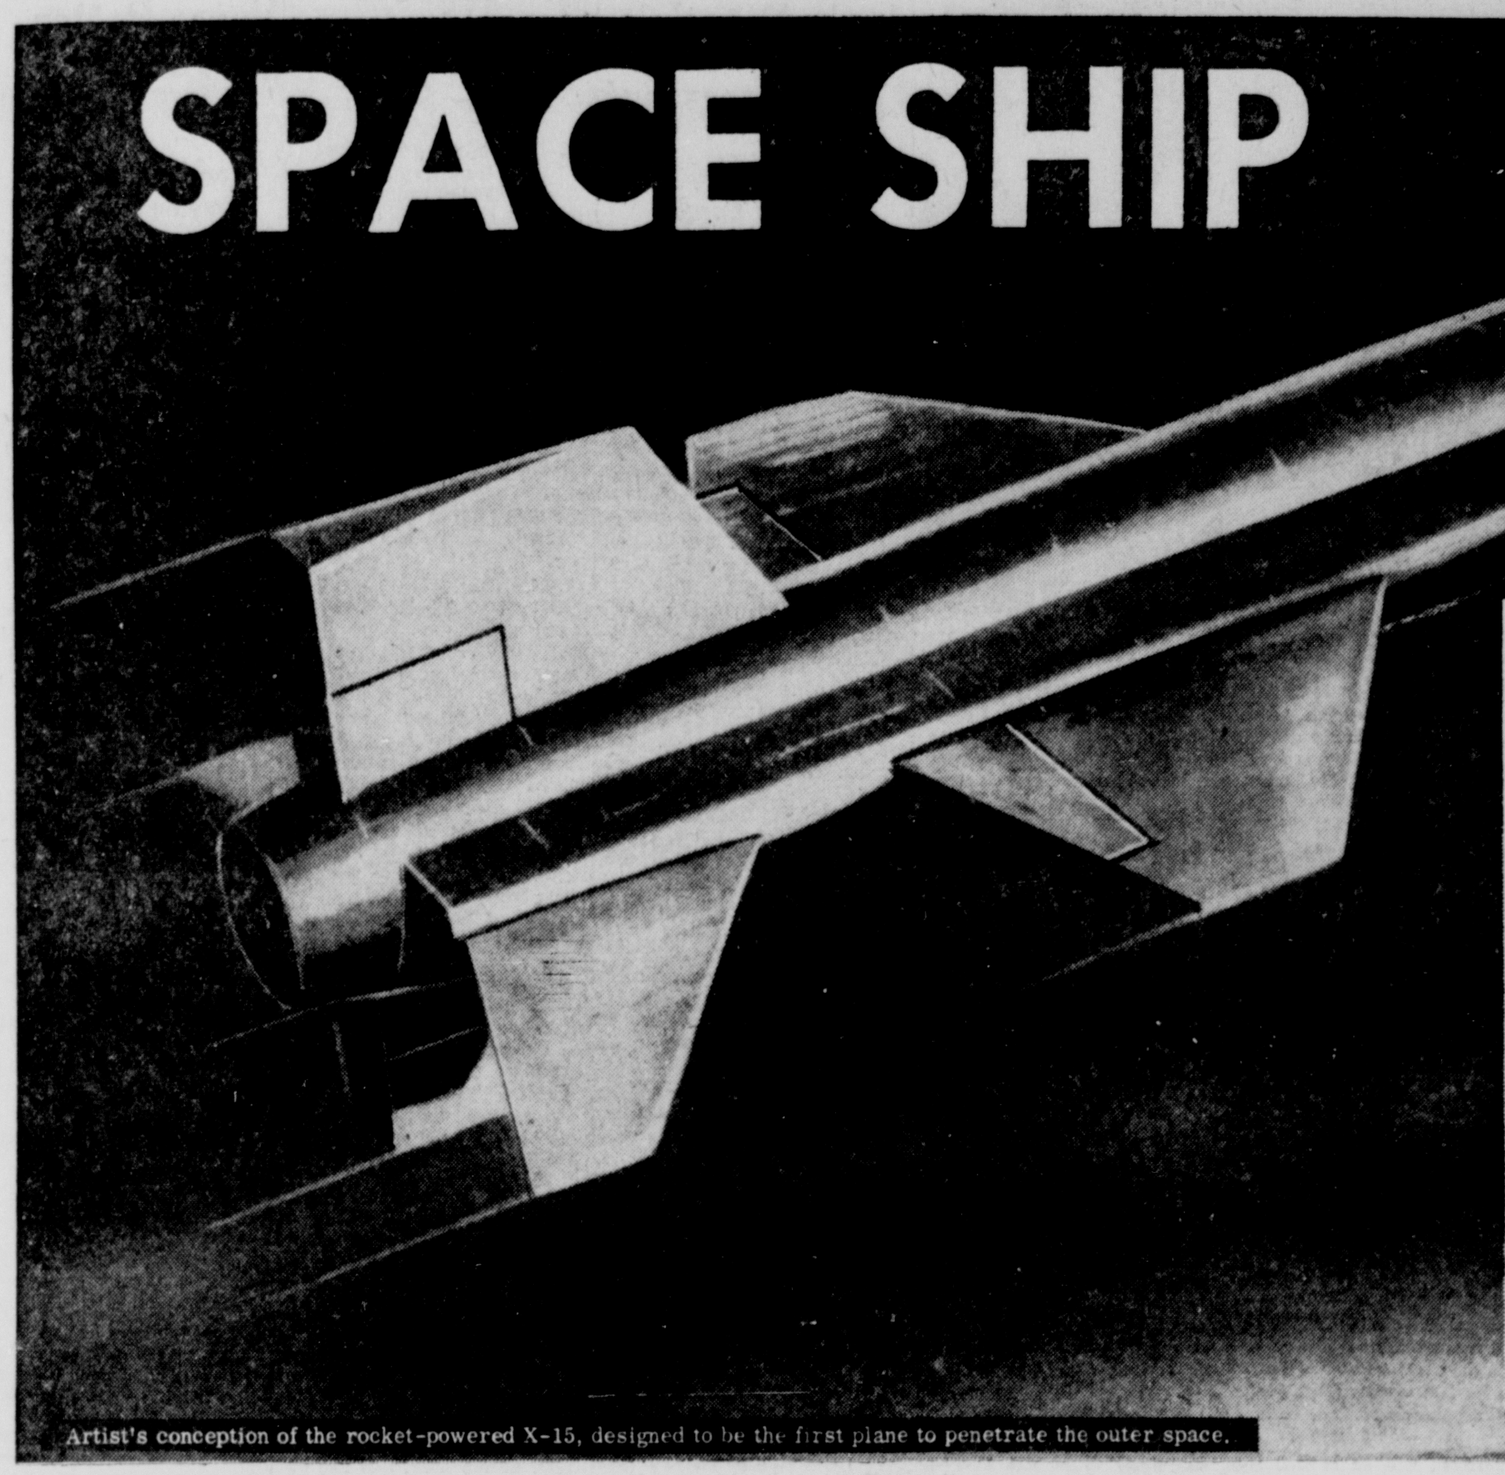

High pressure lines on the X-15 are brazed instead of nut-fastened to provide tighter joints. Here, Bob Karicofe and Bob Leavitt study plans as Lee Norwood points to line position on the mock-up.

Why Literature Is 'Practical'

Former Presidential candidate Alfred M. Landon, addressing the graduating class of a Kansas high school, reviewed the trends of this fascinating and challenging world, and then said:

"The ability to read with understanding is essential, not only to embryo lawyers, doctors, scientists and teachers, but to all who would understand the nature of people they live among and do business with . . .

"Good literature is elevating. Reading contributes to the joy of life as well as to capacity and efficiency on any job. The Canadian Dollar

Canada experienced a record population growth during the 1950s, resulting since 1955 in larger imports than usual, most of which came from the United States. Although imports exceeded exports, the Canadian dollar rose to the highest premium in recent history, according to William McChesney Martin, Jr., testifying before the Byrd Committee of the Senate: ". . . A sustained inflow of capital from abroad, mostly long-term in character, has been more than sufficient to offset the trade deficit; under the Canadian policy of letting the exchange rate fluctuate freely, in response to demand and supply on the exchange market, this inflow has boosted the value of the Canadian dollar in the foreign-exchange market."

In a word, the rise of the Canadian dollar was due to the large influx of American and other capital for investment in Canadian companies; the sale of Canadian securities in the New York market, including fraudulent Canadian mining securities. To show the dimensions of these investments, principally American, between October 1955 and March 1957, net direct investments amounted to Canadian $639,000,000; net new security issues amounted to Canadian $701,000,000; trade in outstanding securities amounted to Canadian $300,000,000; other capital flows amounted to Canadian $390,000,000. Also, Canada increased its official holdings of gold and U. S. dollars by Canadian $16,000,000.

A very large part of this movement of capital into Canada, which resembles the movement of European money into the United States subsequent to the Civil War, came from the United States.

Martin also reported on taxes:

". . . After the Korean boom, there were significant tax reductions for fiscal years 1953-54 and 1955-56. The tax reductions for 1953-54 consisted mainly in eliminating a surcharge on individual income taxes and a reduction in the corporate profits tax. Similar but small reductions characterized the rate changes for 1955-56, introduced when the extent and timing of the economic recovery was still unknown. For 1957-58, there were smaller cuts in indirect taxes, reducing aggregate tax revenues by about 1 per cent and still leaving an increased budget surplus."

The tax advantage for American firms operating out of Canada seems to be sufficient to be attractive to many of them. The Canadian government also appears more interested in developing the capital structure of a pioneering economy and makes favorable terms to business groups. As the cartel system is recognized, openly or condoningly, in Canada, business has certain advantages which are withheld from Americans in the United States who are troubled by anti-trust suits and the like.

The result is that while there has been a rapid flow of American capital into Canada, there has been a reverse operation which involves Canadian companies, sometimes American-owned, taking over American companies, manipulating the New York stock market from a Canadian base. Thus far, the SEC has done little to police these operations, some of which are clearly in violation of the law in the United States where the stocks are sold.

One of the major difficulties in this situation is that the State Department correctly wishes to minimize difficulties between the United States and Canada. On the other hand, there can be no advantage in any mis-statement of facts or any misunderstanding of the situation. As long as SEC cannot adequately police alien stocks sold in huge quantities in the United States, with the co-operation of the foreign government concerned, it must be assumed that the reason for the rejection of co-operation is not honest.

It would make better sense if both countries recognized that they are geographically so situated that they are bound economically to have the closest ties and the Canadian government ought to co-operate with all agencies of the Federal and state governments to prevent phony Canadian stocks from being sold on the American market by providing American agencies with whatever information they may need to safeguard American investors. Many of the stock swindlers out of Canada are Americans who have set themselves up there for safety.

The Canadian complaint that too much American control of Canadian industries exists is nonsense, because it is only natural that those who put up the money will want to have something to say. Too much agitation along that line might lead to a counter-analysis of the operations of Canadians in the United States. Both are unrealistic. Realism requires an honest shake all around.

Journalists Behind Iron Curtain Appear Friendly To Americans

By Drew Pearson

BUCHAREST — The Union of Rumanian Journalists meets in the old House of Lords of the Kingdom of Rumania. This is about like the Newspaper Guild meeting in the old Supreme Court Chamber on Capitol Hill.

The old House of Lords chamber is actually like an art theatre in the United States, with a rostrum instead of a movie screen. In the rear are a battery of translation booths, where speeches are translated into other languages—English, French, German, Spanish, Chinese, Russian and Portuguese.

Having preached the idea of people-to-people friendship until it is now officially adopted by the Eisenhower administration, I decided I had better practice what I preach and, upon invitation, I attended this Rumanian meeting of journalists.

Past Views On Pearson

Because our plane broke down in Budapest I arrived late and attended only one day's session. I had no idea how I would be received. The last clipping I had seen from a Bucharest paper paid its respects to me with considerable vigor. This was about the time we organized the freedom balloons to reach the people behind the Iron Curtain. At that time, Universal of Bucharest had written:

"Pearson is a defender of American democracy. Not long ago he organized a radio debate on American democracy in which it was to be expected the American way of life was praised and worn-out anti-Soviet calumnies were uttered."

The Moscow press had hammered me harder. Izvestia once wrote: "If the Magnates of Monopolistic Capital profiteer on wars, so also do their newspaper salesmen. Such a one is that veteran of slander Drew Pearson." Pravda once charged: "Pearson will resort to any means to sabotage the cause of peace."

So it was with some doubt that I accepted an invitation to attend a meeting of newspapermen behind the Iron Curtain. I didn't know whether I would be greeted with boos and jeers.

I was met, however, by a delegation of newspapermen who informed me I had been elected, in absentia, both to speak and to preside over part of the meeting. The latter was a little more than I had bargained for, and I wanted to know how I was going to be able to recognize the speakers since I didn't know a soul behind the Iron Curtain.

Mr. Ivascu, an enterprising and charming Rumanian editor who seemed to be in charge, said he would give me a list of speakers and sit alongside to nudge my elbow. He also said that Gospodene Kotenko of Moscow was going to preside half the day and implied that the USA could not play second fiddle to the USSR. I accepted the challenge and next day mounted the rostrum.

Sensation vs. Uniformity

If I'd known this was going to happen I would have brought a good capitalist gavel Speaker Sam Rayburn gave me, made from an elm tree that once stood in front of the Capitol in George Washington's day. Not having a gavel, I called the meeting to order by rapping with a penknife.

The newspapermen present were chiefly from Iron Curtain countries, though there were a few from Mexico, Brazil, West Germany, Canada and Greece. They all seemed friendly toward Americans.

I told them at the start that I was a good capitalist newspaperman, but that like a lot of other capitalists I thought there should be more understanding between the east and the west. I also reported that at the last meeting of the International Press Institute in Washington, Badomera Olivera, manager of the Philippine News Service in Manila, had raised the question of admitting to the IPI newspapermen from Communist-bloc countries; and that J. G. Stahlman of the Nashville Banner, with Lester Markel, New York Times Sunday editor, had suggested that Iron Curtain editors be admitted. Their idea was that there be free and frank discussion between all newspapermen regardless of their politics.

I spoke in English, which was immediately translated into half a dozen languages by earphone. By putting on the earphones myself, I could get an English translation of everyone else. Except for one Syrian who blasted the United States and Britain, no politics was discussed. I was not presiding at that time or I would have taken pleasure in calling him to order, because it was agreed in advance that there were to be no attacks on any country. The others lived up to this rule.

The speech of a Polish newsman, Wieslaw Gornicki, was the most interesting of all. Among other things he said:

"I agree with what has been said about sensationalism. But I think we have to remember that people live not by politics alone and that if our newspapers become too uniform, people will stop reading them. People want to know simple, interesting things, and sometimes what you might call sensation can be of real help.

"I read recently of a medical operation on a sailor 350 feet below the sea in an American submarine," continued Gornicki. "It did not have any political meaning, but was an interesting story of a brave people.

"Should we never print such reports?" asked this editor from the Communist Swiat. I learned later that he has been quite friendly toward the United States.

It's difficult to draw conclusions from talking to people during a short visit, but I got the impression that newspapermen in the Soviet-bloc countries are far more open-minded than ever before and want to be friendly toward the United States. Certainly they have come a long way from the period when they hammered at the USA editorially day-in-and-day-out, and when it was impossible to communicate behind the Iron Curtain except by balloon.

Primary Vote No Index To November Result

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Anyone who jumps to conclusions about the vote in the primaries in California and assumes it is a sure index of the November result had better look back and examine the primary vote for governor in that same state in 1954.

It is apparent that under the peculiar system of cross-filing—whereby a candidate can run in both the Republican and Democratic primaries at the same time—the final election doesn't correspond at all either in totals or in percentages fo reach party with what has happened in the primary.

Thus, Governor Knight, Republican, won nomination in both the Republican and Democratic primaries in 1954 with 63 per cent of the total vote cast. In the election, Knight's percentage dropped to 56.8 per cent. His Democratic opponent, who accumulated 860,046 in the Democratic primaries and 112,919 in the Republican primary for a total of only 973,765, came up in the final election with a vote of 1,739,368. This was a gain of 765,603.

Governor Knight, on the other hand, gained in the 1954 final election only 372,938 or only half as many votes as did the Democratic nominee.

The total vote cast in the 1954 primaries is also significant as compared with the final vote. The voters who cast their ballots in the Democratic primaries in 1954 totaled 1,700,753, whereas those who called themselves Republicans cast 1,377,899. This is a margin of 362,854 votes, which is about the same margin that the Democratic nominee, Edmund Brown, had over Senator Knowland at latest reports of this week's primary.

It would appear on the surface, of course, that Edmund Brown would have enough votes on the basis of the primary totals to win the final election, but this assumes that the Republican total vote will not be gotten out that day. Most everyone who knows California politics agrees that the labor-union vote helped elect Governor Knight, Republican, four years ago, whereas this time the labor-union vote is lined up solidly against Senator Knowland, the Republican nominee for governor.

If the Republicans do not mobilize the voters who are outside the orbit of labor-union influences, they will, of course, lose the election. This same situation is indicated in other states where in the recent primaries, with the exception of New Jersey and Nebraska, the Democrats were able to get out a combined total for all their rival candidates greatly in excess of the Republicans.

There is no doubt about it—the Democrats are getting out their vote in the primary elections, and if they continue their effective tactics in the fall elections and the Republicans stay at home, many a congressional seat will be lost to the Republicans.

There is no political organization today comparable to that of the labor unions. Not only do they spend funds collected directly from the workers at the factories and actually pay expenses for electioneering which was classified as "educational" in a Detroit case prosecuted by the federal government but they have a vast number of "volunteers" who conduct the solicitation campaigns and bring workers to the polls.

No such electioneering has been done in recent years by either the Republican or Democratic parties. Businessmen have been urged lately to form a citizens group to solicit money from individual workers in companies generally in an effort to win the votes of the large number of non-union workers in the country, but this type of organization work has not been achieved as yet. Indeed, there are said to be 175 members of Congress today who owe their election to the financial aid and active support given them by labor unions throughout the country.

Primaries are much more easily won by organization activity than are general elections. Senator Knowland is popular in California and it may be that many Republicans didn't come out to vote because they thought he was an easy winner in the Republican primaries. As for the Democratic primaries, his vote of 168,000 at last reports is possibly an indication that in the final election there may be more Democrats of the conservative school of thought who will go over to the Republican side just to vote for Senator Knowland. If the Republicans get out their vote, they will elect Senator Knowland, but it will take hard campaigning to accomplish that result and mostly an appeal to the stay-at-home Californians who this week didn't go to the polls.

Leave Me Some Pride

By Brother Barnabas

Memory recalls but three lines of a ditty that was sung with guitar accompaniment a half-century ago. The rest of the poem has faded. Maybe some of our readers can supply the complete poem.

The three lines run:

Don't think by my clothes that
I've come here to beg
Though the sharp pangs of hunger I feel;
Though poor, I am shabby-
genteel.

It is the voice of wounded pride of a man who has seen better days but is now down-and-out, a social derelict with a spark of self-respect yet alive.

Nobody will hire him, he is too old. He has no social security. His family belonged to the cod-fish aristocracy, but they are gone and forgotten, and he has become the victim of a ruthless society that fawns upon the rich and successful but has no time for the down-and-outers.

Somewhere along the line he made a mis-step and he was on the escalator going down. He may have lost everything on the stock market. Maybe he rushed the growler till he became a penniless addict. His cronies turned him down and left him to "carry the banner" in a dark alley with no covering on a cold night. And when he was put away a remaining friend or two inscribed a slab which read:

Beneath these stones
Repose the bones
Of Alexander Prim
Who took his beer
For many a year
And then his beer took him.

Who Is To Blame?

Wherein lies the blame of such social disaster? Partly in the man himself. "Men at some time are masters of their fates." Partly, too, society's.

Our primary social concern today is with delinquency, its results rather than its causes. We lock the stable door after the horse is stolen rather than train a race that will not want to pick locks, and stable doors can be left open.

If more money were spent for schools and churches, less would need to be spent for courts, jails and constabulary.

The cost of war in terms of human life and military equipment, if diverted to peaceful pursuits would make the world safe for democracy, and, thrown in for good measure, we might have implements of world peace such as good roads everywhere, schools, hospitals, slum clearance, improved housing conditions, atoms for peace rather than war, and mutual respect among the nations.

Leave Us Some Pride

Leave America some pride. We have such bumptious pride in ourselves that we would be surprised if ever the Almighty should disagree with us in a point of order.

We think our democracy is the best form of government in the world, but frankly we are not without blemish.

Uncle Sam is lavish in his distribution of money to needy nations. He has been known to give away his last nickel and turn round and borrow a dime.

And yet some of the nations who benefit by his largess hate him and spit in the face of his ambassadors of good will.

In America every man, rich or poor, high or low, is entitled to vote, and a child born in a log-cabin may become president.

Mordecai Johnson, president of Howard University in Washington, said: The time is past when Christians in America can take a long spoon and hand the Gospel to the black man out the back door.

The Segregation Issue

The other day on the train from Washington there sat beside me an attractive, cultured young colored woman who is a librarian in that university.

We discussed racial matters pro and con with sympathetic understanding. Contacts like that multiplied over the land would go far toward obiiterating the segregation issue.

Are you familiar with the story of the Ugly Duckling that became a beautiful swan?

It is a biographical sketch of Hans Christian Andersen, whose fairy stories have delighted children all over the world.

He was an ugly duckling, figuratively speaking, if ever there was one. Born son of a poor shoemaker in Odense, Denmark in 1805, he was most unprepossessing.

He was lank, ungainly, awkward, odd in his ways as in his looks. He was educated by a few generous patrons who saw in him not the ugly duckling but the graceful swan.

Their guess proved true. When an old man, after he had won world-wide renown, he called the story of his life a "wonder story." As he lay dying he said "How beautiful the world is! How happy am I!"

In spite of earlier handicaps there was left some pride which won out at last. Leave me some pride, says

Drop Of Water Has Role In Bacteria Discovery

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Luck plays a role in progress. Antonj van Leeuwenhoek, the 17th century microscopist in Holland, as a change from studying insects and leaves, focused the lens on a drop of water. He found it teeming with microorganisms, and in so doing, set the stage for the discovery of bacteria.

Every school child knows the story of Edward Jenner who, in the 18th century, just happened to overhear a milkmaid say she was immune to smallpox because she had had cowpox. Louis Pasteur, in the 19th century, accidentally inoculated some hens with a stale culture of chicken cholera. They became immune, demonstrating that the injection of dead bacteria was capable of producing immunity.

These incidents have been dubbed "happy incidents" or serendipity. They are daily occurrences in laboratories, hospitals, and physicians' offices—on a smaller scale. Many medicos, investigating a minor illness, have uncovered an unrelated serious disease. Chance saved the life of these patients.

But the discovery made by accident is not always pure luck. The men who make them are alert enough to recognize their usefulness. Dr. Arno Luckhardt, for example, detected the anesthetic properties of ethylene gas while trying to explain the rapid wilting of carnations when exposed to the smoke contaminated Chicago air.

It was pure accident when a few penicillin molds landed on a Petri dish filled with bacteria. Sir Alexander Fleming noted that the molds killed the bacteria. He might have tossed out the dish but was smart enough to recognize the unusual. This is how penicillin was born.

Dr. Leslie N. Gay prescribed a new antihistiminic tablet for a patient who said to him the next day: "By the way, doctor, this is the first time I haven't become dizzy or nauseated on the ride to your office." The scientist's curiosity bore fruit in the form of a motion sickness remedy—Dramamine.

THYROID CHECKUPS

W. T. writes: Is there any danger in having the thyroid tested radioactively?

REPLY

No because the amount of radioactive iodine used is infinitesimal. On the other hand the breathing test (basal metabolic rate) and the protein bound iodine (PBI) are good substitutes, especially when unnecessary exposure to radiation is to be avoided. This applies chiefly to children, pregnant women, and individuals who have had more than their share of exposure.

RENAL STONES

W. D. writes: When kidney stones are present, why is the kidney removed in some persons and not in others?

REPLY

The organ is removed when it is damaged beyond repair. The stone may have caused infection or blocked the flow of urine which led to enlargement and degeneration of the kidney.

COLOR BLIND CHILD

Mrs. J. F. writes: Is it true that a color blind child is afraid of flashing red lights?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge. This child may be nervous for other reasons; he may have been born in a squad car. Meanwhile, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on color vision.

HAIR LOSS

Mrs. T. W. writes: Why do some women lose their hair?

REPLY

Among the causes are heredity, pregnancy, illness such as typhoid, arsenic poisoning, seborrheic dermatitis, and glandular deficiencies such as too little thyroid production.

THYROID RADIATION

H. R. writes: Can X-ray shrink a tumor on the thyroid gland?

REPLY

Yes, but the effect may be temporary. Most physicians recommend surgical removal of a solitary nodule because of the possibility of malignancy. The only way to know for certain is to remove the lesion and send it to the laboratory for study.

LATE DELIVERY

Mrs. L. writes: My son was overdo at least three weeks when he was born. Could this delay have caused the thyroid deficiency the doctor says he was born with?

REPLY

No. Hypothyroidism at birth usually is due to a developmental defect.

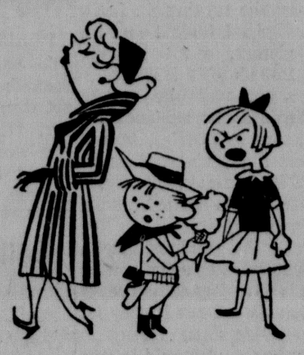

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Where else but in Texas could this happen? A little boy was devouring an ice cream cone when a lady swathed in mink walked by. He boldly wiped his dripping cone against the back of the lady's coat. His 10-year-old sister was aghast. "Junior!" she shrilled, "you're getting fur all over your ice cream!"

Broker drove his wife to Idlewild airport and put her aboard a non-stop plane for Denver. Driving back to town, he hit the peak of the morning traffic, arrived at his office in a state of exhaustion. Propped up on his desk was a wire from his wife: "Arrived in Denver. Perfect trip. Love and kisses."

Comedians were discussing the fame and foibles of one of their most successful contemporaries. "One thing you've got to hand him," admitted one. "He never says anything bad about the dead." "Nor," added another, "anything good about the living."

•Why Literature Is 'Practical'

Former Presidential candidate Alfred M. Landon, addressing the graduating class of a Kansas high school, reviewed the trends of this fascinating and challenging world, and then said:

"The ability to read with understanding is essential, not only to embryo lawyers, doctors, scientists and teachers, but to all who would understand the nature of people they live among and do business with . . .

"Good literature is elevating. Reading contributes to the joy of life as well as to capacity and efficiency on any job. If I'd known this was going to happen I would have brought a good capitalist gavel Speaker Sam Rayburn gave me, made from an elm tree that once stood in front of the Capitol in George Washington's day. Not having a gavel, I called the meeting to order by rapping with a penknife.

The newspapermen present were chiefly from Iron Curtain countries, though there were a few from Mexico, Brazil, West Germany, Canada and Greece. They all seemed friendly toward Americans.

I told them at the start that I was a good capitalist newspaperman, but that like a lot of other capitalists I thought there should be more understanding between the east and the west. I also reported that at the last meeting of the International Press Institute in Washington, Badomera Olivera, manager of the Philippine News Service in Manila, had raised the question of admitting to the IPI newspapermen from Communist-bloc countries; and that J. G. Stahlman of the Nashville Banner, with Lester Markel, New York Times Sunday editor, had suggested that Iron Curtain editors be admitted. Their idea was that there be free and frank discussion between all newspapermen regardless of their politics.

I spoke in English, which was immediately translated into half a dozen languages by earphone. By putting on the earphones myself, I could get an English translation of everyone else. Except for one Syrian who blasted the United States and Britain, no politics was discussed. I was not presiding at that time or I would have taken pleasure in calling him to order, because it was agreed in advance that there were to be no attacks on any country. The others lived up to this rule.

The speech of a Polish newsman, Wieslaw Gornicki, was the most interesting of all. Among other things he said:

"I agree with what has been said about sensationalism. But I think we have to remember that people live not by politics alone and that if our newspapers become too uniform, people will stop reading them. People want to know simple, interesting things, and sometimes what you might call sensation can be of real help.

"I read recently of a medical operation on a sailor 350 feet below the sea in an American submarine," continued Gornicki. "It did not have any political meaning, but was an interesting story of a brave people.

"Should we never print such reports?" asked this editor from the Communist Swiat. I learned later that he has been quite friendly toward the United States.

It's difficult to draw conclusions from talking to people during a short visit, but I got the impression that newspapermen in the Soviet-bloc countries are far more open-minded than ever before and want to be friendly toward the United States. Certainly they have come a long way from the period when they hammered at the USA editorially day-in-and-day-out, and when it was impossible to communicate behind the Iron Curtain except by balloon.

Primary Vote No Index To November Result

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Anyone who jumps to conclusions about the vote in the primaries in California and assumes it is a sure index of the November result had better look back and examine the primary vote for governor in that same state in 1954.

It is apparent that under the peculiar system of cross-filing—whereby a candidate can run in both the Republican and Democratic primaries at the same time—the final election doesn't correspond at all either in totals or in percentages to reach party with what has happened in the primary.

Thus, Governor Knight, Republican, won nomination in both the Republican and Democratic primaries in 1954 with 63 per cent of the total vote cast. In the election, Knight's percentage dropped to 56.8 per cent. His Democratic opponent, who accumulated 860,046 in the Democratic primaries and 112,919 in the Republican primary for a total of only 973,765, came up in the final election with a vote of 1,739,368. This was a gain of 765,603.

Governor Knight, on the other hand, gained in the 1954 final election only 372,938 or only half as many votes as did the Democratic nominee.

The total vote cast in the 1954 primaries is also significant as compared with the final vote. The voters who cast their ballots in the Democratic primaries in 1954 totaled 1,700,753, whereas those who called themselves Republicans cast 1,377,899. This is a margin of 362,854 votes, which is about the same margin that the Democratic nominee, Edmund Brown, had over Senator Knowland at latest reports of this week's primary.

It would appear on the surface, of course, that Edmund Brown would have enough votes on the basis of the primary totals to win the final election, but this assumes that the Republican total vote will not be gotten out that day. Most everyone who knows California politics agrees that the labor-union vote helped elect Governor Knight, Republican, four years ago, whereas this time the labor-union vote is lined up solidly against Senator Knowland, the Republican nominee for governor.

If the Republicans do not mobilize the voters who are outside the orbit of labor-union influences, they will, of course, lose the election. This same situation is indicated in other states where in the recent primaries, with the exception of New Jersey and Nebraska, the Democrats were able to get out a combined total for all their rival candidates greatly in excess of the Republicans.

There is no doubt about it—the Democrats are getting out their vote in the primary elections, and if they continue their effective tactics in the fall elections and the Republicans stay at home, many a congressional seat will be lost to the Republicans.

There is no political organization today comparable to that of the labor unions. Not only do they spend funds collected directly from the workers at the factories and actually pay expenses for electioneering which was classified as "educational" in a Detroit case prosecuted by the federal government but they have a vast number of "volunteers" who conduct the solicitation campaigns and bring workers to the polls.

No such electioneering has been done in recent years by either the Republican or Democratic parties. Businessmen have been urged lately to form a citizens group to solicit money from individual workers in companies generally in an effort to win the votes of the large number of non-union workers in the country, but this type of organization work has not been achieved as yet. Indeed, there are said to be 175 members of Congress today who owe their election to the financial aid and active support given them by labor unions throughout the country.

Primaries are much more easily won by organization activity than are general elections. Senator Knowland is popular in California and it may be that many Republicans didn't come out to vote because they thought he was an easy winner in the Republican primaries. As for the Democratic primaries, his vote of 168,000 at last reports is possibly an indication that in the final election there may be more Democrats of the conservative school of thought who will go over to the Republican side just to vote for Senator Knowland. If the Republicans get out their vote, they will elect Senator Knowland, but it will take hard campaigning to accomplish that result and mostly an appeal to the stay-at-home Californians who this week didn't go to the polls.

Leave Me Some Pride

By Brother Barnabas

Memory recalls but three lines of a ditty that was sung with guitar accompaniment a half-century ago. The rest of the poem has faded. Maybe some of our readers can supply the complete poem.

The three lines run:

Don't think by my clothes that I've come here to beg
Though the sharp pangs of hunger I feel;
Though poor, I am shabby-genteel.

It is the voice of wounded pride of a man who has seen better days but is now down-and-out, a social derelict with a spark of self-respect yet alive.

Nobody will hire him, he is too old. He has no social security. His family belonged to the cod-fish aristocracy, but they are gone and forgotten, and he has become the victim of a ruthless society that fawns upon the rich and successful but has no time for the down-and-outers.

Somewhere along the line he made a mis-step and he was on the escalator going down. He may have lost everything on the stock market. Maybe he rushed the growler till he became a penniless addict. His cronies turned him down and left him to "carry the banner" in a dark alley with no covering on a cold night. And when he was put away a remaining friend or two inscribed a slab which read:

Beneath these stones
Repose the bones
Of Alexander Prim
Who took his beer
For many a year
And then his beer took him.

Who Is To Blame?

Wherein lies the blame of such social disaster? Partly in the man himself. "Men at some time are masters of their fates." Partly, too, society's.

Our primary social concern today is with delinquency, its results rather than its causes. We lock the stable door after the horse is stolen rather than train a race that will not want to pick locks, and stable doors can be left open.

If more money were spent for schools and churches, less would need to be spent for courts, jails and constabulary.

The cost of war in terms of human life and military equipment, if diverted to peaceful pursuits would make the world safe for democracy, and, thrown in for good measure, we might have implements of world peace such as good roads everywhere, schools, hospitals, slum clearance, improved housing conditions, atoms for peace rather than war, and mutual respect among the nations.

Leave Us Some Pride

Leave America some pride. We have such bumptious pride in ourselves that we would be surprised if ever the Almighty should disagree with us in a point of order.

We think our democracy is the best form of government in the world, but frankly we are not without blemish.

Uncle Sam is lavish in his distribution of money to needy nations. He has been known to give away his last nickel and turn round and borrow a dime.

And yet some of the nations who benefit by his largess hate him and spit in the face of his ambassadors of good will.

In America every man, rich or poor, high or low, is entitled to vote, and a child born in a log-cabin may become president.

Mordecai Johnson, president of Howard University in Washington, said: The time is past when Christians in America can take a long spoon and hand the Gospel to the black man out the back door.

The Segregation Issue

The other day on the train from Washington there sat beside me an attractive, cultured young colored woman who is a librarian in that university.

We discussed racial matters pro and con with sympathetic understanding. Contacts like that multiplied over the land would go far toward obliterating the segregation issue.

Are you familiar with the story of the Ugly Duckling that became a beautiful swan?

It is a biographical sketch of Hans Christian Andersen, whose fairy stories have delighted children all over the world.

He was an ugly duckling, figuratively speaking, if ever there was one. Born son of a poor shoemaker in Odense, Denmark in 1805, he was most unprepossessing.

He was lank, ungainly, awkward, odd in his ways as in his looks. He was educated by a few generous patrons who saw in him not the ugly duckling but the graceful swan.

Their guess proved true. When an old man, after he had won world-wide renown, he called the story of his life a "wonder story." As he lay dying he said "How beautiful the world is! How happy am I!"

In spite of earlier handicaps there was left some pride which won out at last. Leave me some pride, says

Drop Of Water Has Role In Bacteria Discovery

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Luck plays a role in progress. Antonj van Leeuwenhoek, the 17th century microscopist in Holland, as a change from studying insects and leaves, focused the lens on a drop of water. He found it teeming with micro-organisms, and in so doing, set the stage for the discovery of bacteria.

Every school child knows the story of Edward Jenner who, in the 18th century, just happened to overhear a milkmaid say she was immune to smallpox because she had had cowpox. Louis Pasteur, in the 19th century, accidentally inoculated some hens with a stale culture of chicken cholera. They became immune, demonstrating that the injection of dead bacteria was capable of producing immunity.

These incidents have been dubbed "happy incidents" or serendipity. They are daily occurrences in laboratories, hospitals, and physicians' offices—on a smaller scale. Many medicos, investigating a minor illness, have uncovered an unrelated serious disease. Chance saved the life of these patients.

But the discovery made by accident is not always pure luck. The men who make them are alert enough to recognize their usefulness. Dr. Arno Luckhardt, for example, detected the anesthetic properties of ethylene gas while trying to explain the rapid wilting of carnations when exposed to the smoke contaminated Chicago air.

It was pure accident when a few penicillin molds landed on a Petri dish filled with bacteria. Sir Alexander Fleming noted that the molds killed the bacteria. He might have tossed out the dish but was smart enough to recognize the unusual. This is how penicillin was born.

Dr. Leslie N. Gay prescribed a new antihistiminic tablet for a patient who said to him the next day: "By the way, doctor, this is the first time I haven't become dizzy or nauseated on the ride to your office." The scientist's curiosity bore fruit in the form of a motion sickness remedy—Dramamine.

THYROID CHECKUPS

W. T. writes: Is there any danger in having the thyroid tested radioactively?

REPLY

No because the amount of radioactive iodine used is infinitesimal. On the other hand the breathing test (basal metabolic rate) and the protein bound iodine (PBI) are good substitutes, especially when unnecessary exposure to radiation is to be avoided. This applies chiefly to children, pregnant women, and individuals who have had more than their share of exposure.

RENAL STONES

W. D. writes: When kidney stones are present, why is the kidney removed in some persons and not in others?

REPLY

The organ is removed when it is damaged beyond repair. The stone may have caused infection or blocked the flow of urine which led to enlargement and degeneration of the kidney.

COLOR BLIND CHILD

Mrs. J. F. writes: Is it true that a color blind child is afraid of flashing red lights?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge. This child may be nervous for other reasons; he may have been born in a squad car. Meanwhile, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on color vision.

HAIR LOSS

Mrs. T. W. writes: Why do some women lose their hair?

REPLY

Among the causes are heredity, pregnancy, illness such as typhoid, arsenic poisoning, seborrheic dermatitis, and glandular deficiencies such as too little thyroid production.

THYROID RADIATION

H. R. writes: Can X-ray shrink a tumor on the thyroid gland?

REPLY

Yes, but the effect may be temporary. Most physicians recommend surgical removal of a solitary nodule because of the possibility of malignancy. The only way to know for certain is to remove the lesion and send it to the laboratory for study.

LATE DELIVERY

Mrs. L. writes: My son was overdo at least three weeks when he was born. Could this delay have caused the thyroid deficiency the doctor says he was born with?

REPLY

No. Hypothyroidism at birth usually is due to a developmental defect.

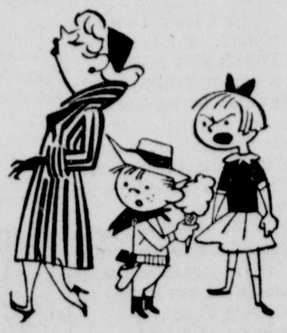

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Where else but in Texas could this happen? A little boy was devouring an ice cream cone when a lady swathed in mink walked by. He boldly wiped his dripping cone against the back of the lady's coat. His 10-year-old sister was aghast. "Junior!" she shrilled, "you're getting fur all over your ice cream!"

Propped up on his desk was a wire from his wife: "Arrived in Denver. Perfect trip. Love and kisses."

Comedians were discussing the fame and foibles of one of their most successful contemporaries. "One thing you've got to hand him," admitted one. "He never says anything bad about the dead." "Nor," added another, "anything good about the living."

(*) Allegany played 5-5 tie game with Beall.

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels donned their batting togs yesterday and racked up 15 hits to trounce Allegany High School's Campers at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 13-2 in the final game of the Allegany County Interscholastic Baseball League season.

By winning yesterday's "big game" in decisive fashion, Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's defending champions finished in a tie with Allegany and Mt. Savage for first place in the county circuit, each team having won eleven games and lost three. The Sentinels also tied Allegany for city championship honors, each team having won three games and lost one. Both teams swept their series with LaSalle. Allegany beat Fort Hill in the opener of their series by the score of 1-0.

Snap Hook's String

Allegany had taken a four-game winning streak into yesterday's game and the setback also cracked the four-game victory string of Lefty Bill Hook, the Campers' ace, who finished the season with an 8-2 record. Jack Cranor finished on the hill for the Campers after relieving Hook with one out in the 7th inning.

Fort Hill's stickers were in an ugly mood and belted the offerings of Hook for 14 safeties in 6⅓ innings, including doubles by Gary Wolford and Jim Hammond, three base wallops by Donnie Lewis and Carl Slonaker and a circuit blast by Wolford with two mates aboard.

Wolford and Jimmy Stinson sparked the assault with three hits each.

Jones Wins 7th

Russell Jones, who went the route for the Sentinels, held the Campers to six hits, including a triple by Richard Powell that produced Allegany's first run, and struck out nine batsmen. The Fort Hill ace wound up the season with a 7-2 record.

Richard "Baldy" Powell featured in centerfield for the Campers with several nice catches.

In addition to collecting 15 hits, Fort Hill pilfered a total of ten bases.

It marked the fifth time in the 20-year history of the league that the championship race ended in a deadlock and the first time three teams finished on top.

On Top 8th Time

Fort Hill has won five titles out right and shared the championship on three other occasions. Beall has won five titles and tied for one. Allegany went all the way in 1945 and tied for top honors in 1954 and 1958.

This is the sixth straight year Fort Hill finished on top in the city race. Teams coached by "Bobby" Cavanaugh won the local crown outright in 1955, 1956 and 1957 and tied for the crown in 1953, 1954 and 1958.

Orioles Take Doubleheader

Beat Kansas City By Scores 2-1, 3-1

BALTIMORE (AP)—Milt Pappas, 19-year-old right hand pitcher, set down the Kansas City Athletics with four hits Friday night in the second game of a doubleheader swept by the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 and 3-1.

The 10th homer of the season by Gus Triandos with Gene Woodling in front of him in the sixth inning sewed up the second victory against one loss for Pappas.

Al Pilarcik's double scored Dick Williams with the first Oriole run the inning before.

All-Star Game Reported Sellout

BALTIMORE (AP) — An avalanche of mail applications for tickets to the July 8 All-Star baseball game caused Baltimore Oriole officials to announce tonight no more could be handled.

Bill Walsingham, executive vice president of the Orioles, said that within 18 hours after the midnight starting deadline for postmarking of mail applications, the club had received requests for about 40,000 tickets. Only 20,000 are available to mail applicants.

The rest of the 49,278 seats in Memorial Stadium already were committed to holders of Oriole season tickets, major and minor league baseball clubs, and sports reporters.

Holland Loses In Semi-Finals At St. Andrews

Thirlwell And Carr Will Play For Title

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) —The last of the Americans, Tim Holland, was eliminated Friday on St. Andrews' cold, misty and wind-whipped Old Course and so Alan Thirlwell will play Joe Carr Saturday in the final of the British Amateur Golf Championship.

The tall New Yorker three-putted seven greens in the 36-hole semifinal and took a 4 and 3 whipping from Thirlwell, a steady-shooting English accountant who just played along while Holland got worse and worse.

Carr, who won the championship five years ago, defeated Michael Bonallack of England by the same 4 and 3 margins. Saturday's 36-hole final will be only the second since World War II that doesn't include an American.

Holland, who tangled with his gallery Thursday and who berated a spectator he said whispered "miss it" while he was putting, wasn't troubled in that way Friday.

His gallery of 500 applauded nearly every shot he made—except some very bad ones. And it groaned in sympathy when he missed putts or hit into traps.

"The people were fine," the wealthy Rockville Centre, N. Y. golfer said. "I liked the St. Andrews Old Course also. It is interesting and difficult.

"I did not sink a good putt all day. I had seven three-putt greens and only one-putt green."

That was just about the story for Holland, who never before had gone so far in such an important tournament.

Turley Bags Ninth, Mantle Belts Pair

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Skowron's two-run single counted the clincher in the seventh inning after Mickey Mantle's two homers had driven in the first four runs Friday night as the New York Yankees defeated Cleveland 6-5. Once-beaten Bob Turley regained the American League strikeout lead with nine and became the first to win nine in the majors this season.

The victory hoisted the Yankees into an 8½ game lead over second-place Kansas City, beaten twice in a Baltimore twi-nighter.

Mrs. Emrich Goes To State Finals

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Maurice Glick of Woodholme will go after her 10th Maryland State Women's golf championship Saturday against Mrs. Charles Emrich of Rolling Road.

Mrs. Glick disposed of Mrs. William Bibby of Cumberland, 4 and 3, and Mrs. Emrich downed Jane Schiller of Salisbury, 3 and 2, in Friday's semi-finals.

Mrs. Glick started out to make a runaway of her match, winning four of the first five holes. Mrs. Bibby rallied to take the sixth and ninth.

The Cumberland golfer also took the 10th to be only one down. But her tee shot on the 11th went awry and she lost the hole. She was down three again after the 13th where she took three putts.

Mrs. Glick was four up again at the 14th when Mrs. Bibby's tee shot landed in a trap.

Two-Run Rally Wins Game In 8th Frame

BOSTON (AP) — Pinchhitter Marty Keough's short sacrifice fly capped a two-run eighth inning rally Friday night for a 3-2 Boston Red Sox victory over Chicago.

Batting for pitcher Ike Delock, Keough lofted a fly ball to shallow right field and pinchrunner Billy Consolo beat Jim Rivera's throw which was slightly wide. Catcher Sherm Lollar couldn't hold it.

Frank Malzone opened the Red Sox eighth with his fourth homer into the left field screen tying the score. Lou Berberet followed with a triple off White Sox reliefer Gerry Staley and Consolo went in to run for him.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sam Jones struck out 12 men Friday night, a new National League high this season, and the surging St. Louis Cardinals gained their fourth straight victory, a 3-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Jones, a seven-hit pitcher who walked three as he achieved his fourth victory in 10 tries, fanned 10 the first five innings. Then he cooled off in the final four frames when Philadelphia spoiled his bid for a shutout.

However, the Redbird right-hander finished with a flourish by breaking off a jagged curve to whiff pinch-hitter Dave Philley for his game-ending putout.

The Cardinals, also held to seven hits, delighted a crowd of 17,559 by getting to southpaw Seth Morehead for two decisive runs in the fourth.

John McMullin Holds Lead In Texas Tourney

Bolt's 130 Trails By Stroke At Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Tour freshman John McMullin refused to wilt under pressure Friday and fashioned 5-under-par 65 to retain the lead by a stroke in the $25,000 Dallas Open.

The lean young man from Fair Oaks, Calif., finished an hour after Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla., had shot the lowest round of the year—an 8-under-par 62—to compile 130 for 36 holes. Then McMullins' birdie strewn round gave him 129.

Planted in third place was young Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, one of the most consistent winners on the tour — he has averaged about $1,000 per tournament in nine tries — who shot his second straight 66. Player had a 36-hole score of 132.

At 133 were Julius Boros of Paradise, Fla., Mike Souchak of Grossingers, N. Y. and Don January of Eastland, Tex.

Akins Stops Vince Martinez In 4th To Win Welter Crown

New Jerseyite Hits Deck 7 Times Before Referee Halts Bout

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil (Honeybear) Akins, a savage puncher from St. Louis, destroyed Vince Martinez with a barrage of fierce blows Friday night to win the vacant world's welterweight championship on a fourth-round technical knockout.

Martinez was down seven times before Harry Kessler stopped it with the Paterson, N. J., boxer flat on his back. Kessler could have counted 30.

Takes Brutal Beating

It was a brutal beating that this 30-year-old slugger handed the handsome stylist from New Jersey. Almost before the battle was under way Martinez was on the deck when he jabbed and Akins crossed over a solid right to the jaw. Vince bounced up but it was apparent that he was badly hurt.

Twice more in that wild first round Martinez was dropped, and twice he fell or was pushed to the deck.

Martinez' legs were wobbly and his face was bloody in the second round as he staved off certain disaster. Only in the final second of that round did he get his vaunted jab into action.

Crowd Boos Vince

The third round showed Martinez jabbing and moving away with some of the style he has shown in previous bouts. Akins, throwing punches with abandon, landed a clubbing right to the head as Martinez backed off balance and was starting to fall under his own steam. The crowd booed as Martinez took another count of three.

A crashing left to the jaw upended Martinez again just before the bell as Akins drove home at least 10 straight punches. In the midst of that barrage Vince lost his mouthpiece. He was backed against the ropes and hammered without return.

Martinez obviously could not take much more. He looked the worse for wear as he came off of the floor. Akins, now waiting for the finisher, slipped down on all fours when he hit a slippery spot in mid-ring.

Then Akins cranked up his finishing attack and drove Vince around the ring with a right and a left after a body barrage. Vince just made it this time, taking the nine count. Then came the finisher, a savage left hook to the jaw, and down went Martinez once more.

Referee Stops Bout

Referee Kessler took one look and stopped the slaughter. It went as a technical knockout because he didn't bother to count him out. As Kessler came to a neutral corner, he told ringsiders "I could have counted 30."

Akins had been a 2-1 favorite on his punching power but not even his strongest supporters expected such a performance. After the opening bell the only thing that was equal about the two fighters was their weight. Each scaled 146¾ pounds at the noon weigh-in.

Detroit Wallops Washington, 11-2

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Detroit Tigers backed up the four-hit pitching of Billy Hoeft with a 14-hit barrage of their own and they defeated the Washington Senators, 11-2, here Friday night. As a result, the Tigers climbed one notch into sixth place in the American League standings with the Senators dropping two spots into the basement.

In pitching his first victory since May 10, Hoeft snapped a personal four-game losing streak. It was his first decision against the Senators since 1956 but was his 13th win against five losses against them during his career.

The 14 Detroit hits off three Washington pitchers were good for 29 bases. The Tigers actually put the game beyond reach in the second and third inning when each walloped two-run homers.

(*) Allegany played 5-5 tie game with Beall.

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels donned their batting togs yesterday and racked up 15 hits to trounce Allegany High School's Campers at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 13-2 in the final game of the Allegany County Interscholastic Baseball League season.

By winning yesterday's "big game" in decisive fashion, Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's defending champions finished in a tie with Allegany and Mt. Savage for first place in the county circuit, each team having won eleven games and lost three. The Sentinels also tied Allegany for city championship honors, each team having won three games and lost one. Both teams swept their series with LaSalle. Allegany beat Fort Hill in the opener of their series by the score of 1-0.

Snap Hook's String

Allegany had taken a four-game winning streak into yesterday's game and the setback also cracked the four-game victory string of Lefty Bill Hook, the Campers' ace, who finished the season with an 8-2 record. Jack Cranor finished on the hill for the Campers after relieving Hook with one out in the 7th inning.

Fort Hill's stickers were in an ugly mood and belted the offerings of Hook for 14 safeties in 6⅓ innings, including doubles by Gary Wolford and Jim Hammond, three base wallops by Donnie Lewis and Carl Slonaker and a circuit blast by Wolford with two mates aboard.

Wolford and Jimmy Stinson sparked the assault with three hits each.

Jones Wins 7th

Russell Jones, who went the route for the Sentinels, held the Campers to six hits, including a triple by Richard Powell that produced Allegany's first run, and struck out nine batsmen. The Fort Hill ace wound up the season with a 7-2 record.

Richard "Baldy" Powell featured in centerfield for the Campers with several nice catches.

In addition to collecting 15 hits, Fort Hill pilfered a total of ten bases.

It marked the fifth time in the 20-year history of the league that the championship race ended in a deadlock and the first time three teams finished on top.

On Top 8th Time

Fort Hill has won five titles out right and shared the championship on three other occasions. Beall has won five titles and tied for one. Allegany went all the way in 1945 and tied for top honors in 1954 and 1958.

This is the sixth straight year Fort Hill finished on top in the city race. Teams coached by "Bobby" Cavanaugh won the local crown outright in 1955, 1956 and 1957 and tied for the crown in 1953, 1954 and 1958.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Milt Pappas, 19-year-old right hand pitcher, set down the Kansas City Athletics with four hits Friday night in the second game of a doubleheader swept by the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 and 3-1.

The 10th homer of the season by Gus Triandos with Gene Woodling in front of him in the sixth inning sewed up the second victory against one loss for Pappas.

Al Pilarcik's double scored Dick Williams with the first Oriole run the inning before.

All-Star Game Reported Sellout

BALTIMORE (AP) — An avalanche of mail applications for tickets to the July 8 All-Star baseball game caused Baltimore Oriole officials to announce tonight no more could be handled.

Bill Walsingham, executive vice president of the Orioles, said that within 18 hours after the midnight starting deadline for postmarking of mail applications, the club had received requests for about 40,000 tickets. Only 20,000 are available to mail applicants.

The rest of the 49,278 seats in Memorial Stadium already were committed to holders of Oriole season tickets, major and minor league baseball clubs, and sports reporters.

Holland Loses In Semi-Finals At St. Andrews

Thirlwell And Carr Will Play For Title

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—The last of the Americans, Tim Holland, was eliminated Friday on St. Andrews' cold, misty and wind-whipped Old Course and so Alan Thirlwell will play Joe Carr Saturday in the final of the British Amateur Golf Championship.

The tall New Yorker three-putted seven greens in the 36-hole semifinal and took a 4 and 3 whipping from Thirlwell, a steady-shooting English accountant who just played along while Holland got worse and worse.

Carr, who won the championship five years ago, defeated Michael Bonallack of England by the same 4 and 3 margins. Saturday's 36-hole final will be only the second since World War II that doesn't include an American.

Holland, who tangled with his gallery Thursday and who berated a spectator he said whispered "miss it" while he was putting, wasn't troubled in that way Friday.

His gallery of 500 applauded nearly every shot he made—except some very bad ones. And it groaned in sympathy when he missed putts or hit into traps.

"The people were fine," the wealthy Rockville Centre, N. Y. golfer said. "I liked the St. Andrews Old Course also. It is interesting and difficult.

"I did not sink a good putt all day. I had seven three-putt greens and only one-putt green."

That was just about the story for Holland, who never before had gone so far in such an important tournament.

Turley Bags Ninth, Mantle Belts Pair

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Skowron's two-run single counted the clincher in the seventh inning after Mickey Mantle's two homers had driven in the first four runs Friday night as the New York Yankees defeated Cleveland 6-5. Once-beaten Bob Turley regained the American League strikeout lead with nine and became the first to win nine in the majors this season.

The victory hoisted the Yankees into an 8½ game lead over second-place Kansas City, beaten twice in a Baltimore twi-nighter.

Mrs. Emrich Goes To State Finals

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Maurice Glick of Woodholme will go after her 10th Maryland State Women's golf championship Saturday against Mrs. Charles Emrich of Rolling Road.

Mrs. Glick disposed of Mrs. William Bibby of Cumberland, 4 and 3, and Mrs. Emrich downed Jane Schiller of Salisbury, 3 and 2, in Friday's semi-finals.

Mrs. Glick started out to make a runaway of her match, winning four of the first five holes. Mrs. Bibby rallied to take the sixth and ninth.

The Cumberland golfer also took the 10th to be only one down. But her tee shot on the 11th went awry and she lost the hole. She was down three again after the 13th where she took three putts.

Mrs. Glick was four up again at the 14th when Mrs. Bibby's tee shot landed in a trap.

The Shoppers' four hits were all singles by Walt Younger, John Teter, Wayne Holly and Jim Hamilton. Denny Shuck had a double for the Caseys.

Holly grabbed a hot liner and turned it into a double play with the bases loaded in the 6th to stop a K. of C threat and Jerry McGreevy made a nice catch of a fly ball at second base for the losers.

At East Side Field, the Hermans went down to defeat for the second straight time, dropping a 6-5 decision to Chaney's Transportation.

Joe Scarpelli rapped a pair of doubles and Ronnie Lewis garnered two singles to account for half of Chaney's hits. Bobby Goss walloped a homer for the Hermans in the first inning.

Elliott Is Victor, Delany Is Third

COMPTON, Calif. (AP) — Herb Elliott of Australia won the mile feature Friday night at the Compton Track meet in 3:58.1.

Laszlo Tabori was second and Ireland's Ron Delany a well-beaten third.

Elliott's time missed the world record held by John Landy by 1-10th of a second.

Elliott took a big lead in the final lap, with Tabori making the only challenge as Delany, Ireland's Olympic Games 1500-meter champion, appeared to tie up 220 yards from home. He was beaten an estimated 50 yards or more.

Laurel holds the Maryland record of $194,244 for one-day daily double wagering.

MATHIAS ACE — Ivan Mongold pitched six complete games and won all of them in leading Mathias High School to the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference this year. Mathias posted an 8-0 record and completed a two-year mark of 13-3 since Loring "Jimmy" Vance took over the reins as head coach in 1957. Mongold's three-year PVC record in the P.V.C. is 12 wins and two losses. He was 1-0 as a sophomore and 5-2 in his junior year.

Two-Run Rally Wins Game In 8th Frame

BOSTON (AP) — Pinchhitter Marty Keough's short sacrifice fly capped a two-run eighth inning rally Friday night for a 3-2 Boston Red Sox victory over Chicago.

Frank Malzone opened the Red Sox eighth with his fourth homer into the left field screen tying the score. Lou Berberet followed with a triple off White Sox reliefer Gerry Staley and Consolo went in to run for him.

Jones Fans 12, Cards Win, 3-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sam Jones struck out 12 men Friday night, a new National League high this season, and the surging St. Louis Cardinals gained their fourth straight victory, a 3-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Jones, a seven-hit pitcher who walked three as he achieved his fourth victory in 10 tries, fanned 10 the first five innings. Then he cooled off in the final four frames when Philadelphia spoiled his bid for a shutout.

However, the Redbird right-hander finished with a flourish by breaking off a jagged curve to whiff pinch-hitter Dave Philley for his game-ending putout.

The Cardinals, also held to seven hits, delighted a crowd of 17,559 by getting to southpaw Seth Morehead for two decisive runs in the fourth.

Bolt's 130 Trails By Stroke At Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Tour freshman John McMullin refused to wilt under pressure Friday and fashioned 5-under-par 65 to retain the lead by a stroke in the $25,000 Dallas Open.

The lean young man from Fair Oaks, Calif., finished an hour after Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla., had shot the lowest round of the year—an 8-under-par 62—to compile 130 for 36 holes. Then McMullins' birdie strewn round gave him 129.

Planted in third place was young Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, one of the most consistent winners on the tour — he has averaged about $1,000 per tournament in nine tries — who shot his second straight 66. Player had a 36-hole score of 132.

At 133 were Julius Boros of Paradise, Fla., Mike Souchak of Grossingers, N. Y. and Don January of Eastland, Tex.

Akins Stops Vince Martinez In 4th To Win Welter Crown

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil (Honeybear) Akins, a savage puncher from St. Louis, destroyed Vince Martinez with a barrage of fierce blows Friday night to win the vacant world's welterweight championship on a fourth-round technical knockout.

Martinez was down seven times before Harry Kessler stopped it with the Paterson, N. J., boxer flat on his back. Kessler could have counted 30.

Takes Brutal Beating

It was a brutal beating that this 30-year-old slugger handed the handsome stylist from New Jersey. Almost before the battle was under way Martinez was on the deck when he jabbed and Akins crossed over a solid right to the jaw. Vince bounced up but it was apparent that he was badly hurt.

Twice more in that wild first round Martinez was dropped, and twice he fell or was pushed to the deck.

Martinez' legs were wobbly and his face was bloody in the second round as he staved off certain disaster. Only in the final second of that round did he get his vaunted jab into action.

Crowd Boos Vince

The third round showed Martinez jabbing and moving away with some of the style he has shown in previous bouts. Akins, throwing punches with abandon, landed a clubbing right to the head as Martinez backed off balance and was starting to fall under his own steam. The crowd booed as Martinez took another count of three.

A crashing left to the jaw upended Martinez again just before the bell as Akins drove home at least 10 straight punches. In the midst of that barrage Vince lost his mouthpiece. He was backed against the ropes and hammered without return.

Martinez obviously could not take much more. He looked the worse for wear as he came off of the floor. Akins, now waiting for the finisher, slipped down on all fours when he hit a slippery spot in mid-ring.

Then Akins cranked up his finishing attack and drove Vince around the ring with a right and a left after a body barrage. Vince just made it this time, taking the nine count. Then came the finisher, a savage left hook to the jaw, and down went Martinez once more.

Referee Stops Bout

Referee Kessler took one look and stopped the slaughter. It went as a technical knockout because he didn't bother to count him out. As Kessler came to a neutral corner, he told ringsiders "I could have counted 30."

Akins had been a 2-1 favorite on his punching power but not even his strongest supporters expected such a performance. After the opening bell the only thing that was equal about the two fighters was their weight. Each scaled 146¾ pounds at the noon weigh-in.

Detroit Wallops Washington, 11-2

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Detroit Tigers backed up the four-hit pitching of Billy Hoeft with a 14-hit barrage of their own and they defeated the Washington Senators, 11-2, here Friday night. As a result, the Tigers climbed one notch into sixth place in the American League standings with the Senators dropping two spots into the basement.

In pitching his first victory since May 10, Hoeft snapped a personal four-game losing streak. It was his first decision against the Senators since 1956 but was his 13th win against five losses against them during his career.

The 14 Detroit hits off three Washington pitchers were good for 29 bases. The Tigers actually put the game beyond reach in the second and third inning when each walloped two-run homers.

Seven Horses To Oppose Tim Tam In Belmont Stakes

Calumet Ace Seeks Triple Crown Today

Saferris Surprise Entry; Winner To Collect $73,440

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven horses, including a longshot intruder named Saferris, were named to oppose the Calumet Farm's Tim Tam Saturday in the tough mile and a half Belmont Stakes at swanky Belmont Park.

All week long the management had figured only six colts would go against Tim Tam, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, who would become the ninth horse in history to complete the triple crown if he can take the Belmont.

The colt given the best chance to make a battle of it is Irish-bred Cavan, who came from 14 lengths behind and won the Peter Pan Handicap last week. Cavan, owned by Joseph E. O'Connell of Boston, won going away by four lengths in that mile and one eighth race.

S. R. (Skippy) Shapoff, who trains Saferris for the Two Brooks Farm at Basking Ridge, N. J., made the surprise entry. Saferris's owner is Mike Sakele, a Manhattan restaurateur, and the colt has yet to win in nine starts this year. A week ago Friday Saferris ran fourth in a one mile race at Belmont.

Winner May Get $73,440

If eight start in the Belmont, to be televised and broadcast (CBS) nationally from 3:30 p. m., EST, the pot will gross $114,600, with $73,440 net to the winner.

All owners must put up $1,000 to start Saturday and the forecast is for sunny skies.

Ted Atkinson will ride Chance It Tony, owned by Mrs. Anna Cannuli. No jockey was named for Mrs. Charles Silvers' Page Seven.

Ismael Valenzuela, who was aboard when Tim Tam won the Derby and Preakness, is seeking to become the eighth jockey to ride a triple crown colt.

Arcaro On Nasco

The Wheatley Stable's Nasco ill have Eddie Arcaro; Eric Guerin is on C. V. Whitney's Flamingo; Conn McCreary rides George Lewis' Martins Rullah; Pete Anderson will pilot Cavan.

Jimmy Jones, the Calumet trainer, admitted he was nervous but not worried. Tim Tam now has won eight straight.

Taylor Is Named Ohio State Coach

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fred Taylor, 33-year-old freshman coach, Friday was named head basketball coach at Ohio State University.

Taylor's selection was confirmed by the university board of trustees. He was nominated by a special screening committee and the full athletic board. President Novice G. Fawcett and the trustees agreed in quick succession.

Taylor succeeds Floyd Stahl who stepped down after eight years at the Buckeye basketball helm.

Taylor's salary will be $8,664 annually. In addition, he will continue on the faculty as an instructor.

Seven Horses To Oppose Tim Tam In Belmont Stakes

Calumet Ace Seeks Triple Crown Today

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven horses, including a longshot intruder named Saferris, were named to oppose the Calumet Farm's Tim Tam Saturday in the tough mile and a half Belmont Stakes at swanky Belmont Park.

All week long the management had figured only six colts would go against Tim Tam, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, who would become the ninth horse in history to complete the triple crown if he can take the Belmont.

The colt given the best chance to make a battle of it is Irish-bred Cavan, who came from 14 lengths behind and won the Peter Pan Handicap last week. Cavan, owned by Joseph E. O'Connell of Boston, won going away by four lengths in that mile and one eighth race.

S. R. (Skippy) Shapoff, who trains Saferris for the Two Brooks Farm at Basking Ridge, N. J., made the surprise entry. Saferris's owner is Mike Sakele, a Manhattan restaurateur, and the colt has yet to win in nine starts this year. A week ago Friday Saferris ran fourth in a one mile race at Belmont.

Winner May Get $73,440

If eight start in the Belmont, to be televised and broadcast (CBS) nationally from 3:30 p. m., EST, the pot will gross $114,600, with $73,440 net to the winner.

All owners must put up $1,000 to start Saturday and the forecast is for sunny skies.

Ted Atkinson will ride Chance It Tony, owned by Mrs. Anna Cannuli. No jockey was named for Mrs. Charles Silvers' Page Seven.

Ismael Valenzuela, who was aboard when Tim Tam won the Derby and Preakness, is seeking to become the eighth jockey to ride a triple crown colt.

Arcaro On Nasco

The Wheatley Stable's Nasco ill have Eddie Arcaro; Eric Guerin is on C. V. Whitney's Flamingo; Conn McCreary rides George Lewis' Martins Rullah; Pete Anderson will pilot Cavan.

Jimmy Jones, the Calumet trainer, admitted he was nervous but not worried. Tim Tam now has won eight straight.

Taylor Is Named Ohio State Coach

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fred Taylor, 33-year-old freshman coach, Friday was named head basketball coach at Ohio State University.

Taylor's selection was confirmed by the university board of trustees. He was nominated by a special screening committee and the full athletic board. President Novice G. Fawcett and the trustees agreed in quick succession.

Taylor succeeds Floyd Stahl who stepped down after eight years at the Buckeye basketball helm.

Taylor's salary will be $8,664 annually. In addition, he will continue on the faculty as an instructor.

County Receives $33,864 As Share Of Auto Taxes

J. Wallace Close, county tax collector, notified the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today of receipt of a check from the state comptroller's office for $33,864 as the county's share of auto taxes.

Merwin Hast, county dog warden, submitted a report to the board showing his activities from May 3 to June 3.

During the period he picked up 224 stray dogs, destroyed 183 dogs, placed 38 dogs in homes, reclaimed three dogs, and sold 19 licenses. Hast listed his mileage for the month as 1,261 miles.

A letter was received from Walter M. Fuller, a clerk with the County Roads Department since 1942 asking that he be upgraded in the Civil Service classification.

Fuller said he had seen where upgrading of some county clerical employes had been made and asked for similar consideration. He cited the rising cost of living as another factor. The matter was filed for consideration.

Joseph Robertson, Barton, wrote the board concerning the report by Frank Powers, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, on pollution of Laurel Run near that community. He said that the strip mine operation adjacent to the stream results in the water becoming colored like black tar after a rainfall. He also said a petition concerning the stream pollution had been signed about a year ago.

Concerning the outside toilets dumping raw sewage into the streams, Robertson said this was a matter for the County Health Department.

In a report to the commissioners, Powers said a visual check of the stream did not show any mine acid pollution. He reported on the sewage from the outside toilets.

County Receives $33,864 As Share Of Auto Taxes

J. Wallace Close, county tax collector, notified the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today of receipt of a check from the state comptroller's office for $33,864 as the county's share of auto taxes.

Merwin Hast, county dog warden, submitted a report to the board showing his activities from May 3 to June 3.

During the period he picked up 224 stray dogs, destroyed 183 dogs, placed 38 dogs in homes, reclaimed three dogs, and sold 19 licenses. Hast listed his mileage for the month as 1,261 miles.

A letter was received from Walter M. Fuller, a clerk with the County Roads Department since 1942 asking that he be upgraded in the Civil Service classification.

Fuller said he had seen where upgrading of some county clerical employes had been made and asked for similar consideration. He cited the rising cost of living as another factor. The matter was filed for consideration.

Joseph Robertson, Barton, wrote the board concerning the report by Frank Powers, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, on pollution of Laurel Run near that community. He said that the strip mine operation adjacent to the stream results in the water becoming colored like black tar after a rainfall. He also said a petition concerning the stream pollution had been signed about a year ago.

Concerning the outside toilets dumping raw sewage into the streams, Robertson said this was a matter for the County Health Department.

In a report to the commissioners, Powers said a visual check of the stream did not show any mine acid pollution. He reported on the sewage from the outside toilets.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Slavko Nicholas Krnaya, who passed away 17 years ago, June 7, 1941.

Since you went first and left us to remain
And many hours have passed,
I still can feel you near me,
My hand in your last clasp.
Sadly missed by his Father, Mother, Brother and Sister.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere gratitude to Rev. John U. Lyness and our considerate friends who were so kind during the recent loss of our mother, Mary Waneta Youngblood. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Slavko Nicholas Krnava, who passed away 17 years ago, June 7, 1941.

Since you went first and left us to remain
And many hours have passed,
I still can feel you near me,
My hand in your last clasp.
Sadly missed by his Father, Mother, Brother and Sister.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere gratitude to Rev. John U. Lyness and our considerate friends who were so kind during the recent loss of our mother, Mary Waneta Youngblood. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

County Purchase Orders Protested By Wilkinson

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson yesterday objected to three purchase orders submitted by J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor.

The purchase orders were for cutter blades and heads for three mowing machines used by the county. Wilkinson said the purchase orders did not list the cost of the items and he objected to buying these parts. He referred to purchase of a used mowing machine a few weeks ago for $950 by the County Roads Department. He inquired if this machine was broken down.

Chapman said the machine referred to was a tractor used to power the mowing device and was in good working order. He explained that the parts ordered were needed for replacement so that the three mowers could be kept in constant use.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said he saw no objection to having the parts on hand for use when needed, but the orders were held up as there were only Wilson and Wilkinson at yesterday's session. Commissioner James Orr was absent.

The board received a request from Magistrate Dayton M. Lewis at Oldtown for an extension phone between his office and home. He explained that many persons came to his home on matters pertaining to his mageristerial duties. Lewis said his wife is ill and unable to clean up after persons tracking mud into the house in wet weather. The matter was filed for consideration.

The board also instructed Chapman to grade the entrance to the Union Grove Camp Grounds for a distance of 25 feet. The area is from the road to a small bridge across Evitts Creek. The work will be done at the time the grader is doing similar work on Mason Road for the Bedford Road Optimist Club baseball field.

Aircrafts And Oils Help Pull Up Market Strength

Both the blue chips and the lower quality issues got a play in what seemed to be a higher degree of speculative activity than usual. Until the final hour it was a highly selective affair.

The steels, motors, base metals and chemicals were pretty ragged.

News that the unemployment total had dropped below five million for the first time since January came late in the day and struck a new note of confidence. Earlier the market background was overshadowed by the House-Senate economic committee report which said the nation's economy might not get back on its feet until late 1960.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents to its latest yearly peak of $172.60, marking the fourth time this week a new high has been attained. The industrial component was up 30 cents and the rails up 10 cents—both to new '58 highs—while the utilities edged forward 10 cents also.

News that the unemployment total had dropped below five million for the first time since January came late in the day and struck a new note of confidence. Earlier the market background was overshadowed by the House-Senate economic committee report which said the nation's economy might not get back on its feet until late 1960.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents to its latest yearly peak of $172.60, marking the fourth time this week a new high has been attained. The industrial component was up 30 cents and the rails up 10 cents—both to new '58 highs—while the utilities edged forward 10 cents also.

Youth Killed By Lightning While Camping

Five Other Persons Are Hospitalized

A 13-year-old Newburg, W. Va., boy was killed instantly by lightning and nine other persons were stunned during a violent electrical storm that struck Tucker County, W. Va., late Thursday night.

Killed was William Cogar, son of Luther and Delphia (Taylor) Cogar of RFD 3, Newburg. He was with his family and friends on a camping trip when the storm hit the area.

Four other Cogar children and a friend were reported in "fair" condition yesterday at Tucker County Hospital, Parsons. Hospitalized were Judy Cogar, 12; Linda Cogar, 6; Cathy Cogar, 3; Roger Cogar, 10, and Francis Plum, 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Cogar and six of their children, and Russell Plum and his three sons were camping on Mill Run at the foot of Slip Hill near St. George, W. Va., when the lightning struck during the storm.

Pitched Tent Under Trees

Cpl. James R. Rightmire of the State Police, said the group had pitched their tent at the base of a group of three hemlock trees.

Cpl. Rightmire said the lightning struck the center tree, killing the youth instantly and stunning the other occupants of the tent.

Mr. Plum and one of his sons were sleeping in a truck nearby and were uninjured. The trooper said the group had gone on the camping trip earlier the same day.

The victim was born December 1, 1944, at Mill Creek, W. Va., and had resided with his family near Newburg the past four years.

Funeral Tomorrow

Also surviving besides his parents and the brother and sisters who were injured, are three sisters, Mrs. Hazel Hammond, Mill Creek; Mrs. Louella Haskel, Tunnelton, W. Va., and Mrs. Delores Adams, Newburg; five brothers, Arnold, Ronald, Donald, Lonnie and Ray Cogar, all at home, and maternal grandfather, Preston Taylor, Mill Creek.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Jerusalem Methodist Church by Rev. McCartney. Burial will be in Mill Creek Cemetery.

The body is at the Greenlief Funeral Home in Parsons, and will be taken to the church at noon tomorrow.

Final Performance Slated For 'Guest In The House'

The final performance of "Guest In The House," will be staged tonight by the Algonquin Players.

The production will be staged at Carroll Hall under the direction of Chad Riley. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Mr. Riley is well known as an actor and director and has taken an active part in the work of the drama group.

In the cast are Rebecca Borgman, a second grade student at West Side School, and Miss Barbara Campbell, who takes the part of Ann Proctor.

Rebecca, better known as Becky, has had no previous stage experience. Observers at rehearsals reported she took her part like an "old pro."

She prefers classical music to the popular "rock and roll." She had wanted to be a ballet dancer but has now decided she wants to become an actress.

Members of the opening night audience would say it was a wise decision.

"Guest In The House" is the third production to be staged this year by the Algonquin Players.

Man Writes Congressman About Canal Bugs, Odor

An Oldtown resident who is seeking the alleviation of an insect problem which he says stems from stagnant waters of the old C&O Canal, has written a letter to his Congressman.

Ross F. Shaw said last night that he has written to Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde and desires a solution to the situation for the sake of the health of the residents of Oldtown.

The infested area, Mr. Shaw pointed out, is located a distance of about three quarters of a mile along the canal on what is known as Eight Mile Level.

He said the stagnant water breeds nothing but mosquitoes, bugs and gnats, and the odor is nauseating. He said he also complained last spring about the situation.

In his letter, he invited Rep. Hyde to visit the area. Since it is federal property the problem is out of the hands of the County Commissioners, Mr. Shaw said.

Medical Care Rolls, Costs Increase Here

Allegany County's Medical Care program, which has always been the highest in the state, increased this spring, according to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

During February, the state-county sponsored program cost $13,113.14 as about 4,200 people were carried on the rolls.

Officials said furloughs in the area were responsible for the greater use of the program designed to provide health services for those who cannot afford to pay for them.

The Medical Care costs, the health officer said, had been averaging from $10,000 to $11,000 a month.

Two groups are eligible for free medical and dental services. Those carried on the county relief rolls are automatically eligible for the service.

The second group is the medically indigent—persons who cannot meet the cost of medical care but are self supporting in other respects.

Doctors and dentists who provide services for Medical Care patients do so at reduced rates and minimum markups are allowed for medicines dispensed by pharmacists.

In 1955-56, about two per cent of the residents in Maryland's counties received services under the Medical Care program at a per capita cost of 50 cents for all Maryland citizens.

Habeas Writ Is Denied

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which stemmed from a difference in dates, has been denied Eugene V. Oldaker, city, by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, who filed an opinion in Allegany County Court.

Oldaker asked the writ be granted because he was tried in Trial Magistrate's Court June 2, 1958 on a charge of being intoxicated on a public street May 28, 1958.

According to the petition he said "theoretically it could not have been that date, because I was still confined in the Allegany County jail completing a 25-day sentence."

Judge Harris pointed out that in his opinion this contention could have been made on a motion for a new trial or on an appeal but not on a motion for a writ of habeas corpus.

To Hold Final Meeting

Guard To Camp At Indiantown During August

Three County Units Will Participate

The 115th Infantry Regiment, 29th Division, Maryland National Guard, which is commanded by Col. Randolph Millholland, this city, will join the rest of the division for its annual summer encampment at Indiantown Gap, Pa., during the last two weeks in August.

Headquarters Company, 1st. Battalion, and Company C, both of Cumberland, as well as Company D of Frostburg, are part of Col. Millholland's regiment. He noted that Company D, commanded by First Lt. Samuel J. Allen, is the largest heavy weapons company in the regiment.

All units of the regiment are scheduled to begin their movement to Indiantown Gap on Saturday, August 16. Units represent all parts of Maryland with the exception of lower Southern Maryland, Col. Millholland noted.

This summer's training will be the culmination of the Army teamwork lessons learned individually in the respective armories during the past year, Col. Millholland said. "In addition to the valuable experience of working together, there will be a comprehensive training schedule to follow, which will include the technical studies, range firing of the larger weapons, the regimental and division parades, and the annual softball tournament as well as other recreational activities peculiar to Regular Army life," the commander observed.

This year's colorful division parade will be held on Saturday, August 23 and will be viewed by numerous military and political figures as well as friends and relatives of members of the troop Col. Milholland extended an invitation to friends and relatives of members of the units to attend the ceremonies and special events on that day.

Last year's field training exercises have been hailed as the best ever, in that the 115th Regiment exhibited a high degree of military efficiency. The strength and spirit of the regiment this year, Col. Millholland remarked, indicates an even better summer training experience.

Col. Millholland expressed appreciation to employers of National Guardsmen for their cooperation by making these men available for training.

Home Permits Are Issued

The Allegany County Assessing Department yesterday issued three home building permits to county residents.

Glen E. Northcraft, of Baltimore Pike, was issued a permit to construct a frame and stone dwelling at a cost of about $6,500. The foundation will be of concrete block and the roof will be of composition shingles. The home will have a cellar.

Albert C. Miller, 400 Bond Street, city, was granted a permit to construct a 40 by 26 frame dwelling at a cost of about $6,000. The home will have a concrete block foundation, composition shingle roof and will include a cellar.

In the third permit, Bruce D. Wasson of Cresaptown was granted permission to construct a 12 by 36 frame dwelling. The foundation will be concrete block pillars and the home will have a cellar, and a roof of composition shingle. The cost will be about $5,000.

Child Hit By Car

Nancy Mower, 11, of 327 Pearl Street, was treated for leg injuries at Memorial Hospital yesterday where she was taken after being hit by a car in front of Johnson Heights School. City Police are investigating.

Septic Tank Regulations Are Revised

Stricter regulations governing the installation of septic tanks have been placed into effect by the Allegany County Health Department.

The rules are being enforced on all building projects in the county unless the building is to be located in an incorporated community where public sewers are available.

Proof from the Health Department that the plan will meet standards must be supplied before the county will issue a building permit.

Certification is also being required, according to J. B. Dowling, chief sanitarian, before government-guaranteed loans can be secured.

The first step, Mr. Dowling said, is to secure an excreta disposal permit from the Health Department.

The prospective builder may fill out the form either at the Health Department offices or at home and then mail it together with a scale drawing on the reverse side of the form.

One of the requirements is that a percolation test be made to determine how well the soil will absorb moisture from the septic tank's drainage field.

To make this test, the owner must excavate two test pits, 12 inches square and 24 inches deep, in the ground where the distribution field will be. The test is conducted by sanitarians who fill the holes with water and mark the time it takes for the water to be absorbed.

If absorption is satisfactory, a standard drainage field may be used. If the soil will not take water readily, larger fields are required.

When the forms are returned and the test made, the Health Department issues a permit which allows the owner or his contractor to get a building permit and to proceed with work on the septic system.

When the installation is in, the Health Department makes an inspection and issues a completion certificate if all is in order.

The system cannot, of course, be covered until the inspection is made. Results are kept on file by the Health Department.

Fight For GOP Chairman Post Expected Today

State Republican Convention To Meet

BALTIMORE (AP)—A fight between Maryland's senior senator and Maryland's outgoing governor is brewing at Saturday's State Republican Convention if D. Eldred Rinehart quits as chairman.

Sen. John Marshall Butler and Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin have seldom seen eye to eye. Rinehart's impending resignation could bring on a brawl that would shove the convention's normal business, formalizing nominations of the May 20 primary, well into the background.

Rinehart has asked to be relieved of the party chairmanship because of his other duties as chairman of the State Racing Commission and proprietor of extensive orchards in Washington County.

Gresham Or France?

Previously considered a shoo-in as a successor is McKeldin's administrative assistant, 35-year-old William A. Gresham. But now, on the eve of the convention, Sen. Butler has come out for former national committeeman Jacob France as a replacement for Rinehart.

Gresham, a former newspaper man, was a Democrat but turned Republican when he went with McKeldin in 1950. Regarding the chairmanship, he said:

"I am not an active candidate . . .but if the nomination is offered me I will accept."

France, a Baltimore attorney, has been a banker, industrialist and oil man. He was elected national committeeman in 1944 and, with Sen. Butler, supported Robert A. Taft against Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidential nomination in 1952.

Hints At Party Split

Sen. Butler said Friday that the GOP should insist on a man for the chairmanship "who has met and passed the test of Republicanism over a long period of years."

He said it would be a tragic mistake to do otherwise and, hinting at a party split, added:

"Such a mistake could seriously injure the party and its efforts to provide the nation and state with competent public officials."

Butler also urged that Rinehart keep his present job. His Senate colleague, Sen. J. Glenn Beall, said he would lead a draft to retain Rinehart as chairman.

Other GOP candidates nominated in the primary also have expressed the hope that Rinehart will stay on. He has not ruled out the possibility of a draft.

A McKeldin-Butler fight over Rinehart's successor could lead to selection of a compromise chairman. Thomas G. Tinsley, a radio executive and political newcomer, is known to be interested.

GOP Convention To Be Offered Civil Rights Plank

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Republican convention will be offered Saturday a campaign platform with an outspoken call for quick ending of all segregation.

A platform committee headed by E. Dale Adkins Jr. of Salisbury proposed one of the strongest worded planks on civil rights for a political party in Maryland.

The 152 delegates to the convention will be asked to say the GOP not only accepts the Supreme Court's prohibition against maintenance of separate schools on the basis of race, but approves.

"It is our contention that there cannot be legal nor moral justification for the exclusion of any citizen from any public operated building or facility," the plank continues.

"We find morally and economically indefensible those business people, who although dependent on public patronage, deny there services, commodities and accommodations to people on the basis of color."

Horse Rock Hill Dwellings Approved

Building permits for three dwellings on Horse Rock Hill near Westernport which the builder says will cost a total of $43,000 have been issued by the Allegany County assessing department.

The H.R.D. Corporation obtained the permits for the houses, which are to be completed by September. Two are brick and frame and the third frame. The estimated costs are $16,800, $13,400 and $12,800.

Other speakers will be John S. Shriver, director of the State Fiscal Research Bureau; George N. Lewis Jr., head of the SRC's Traffic Division; Mrs. Helen R. Tullis, pedestrian safety consultant, and Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the Department of Legislative Research.

Mr. Shriver will serve as consultant at a round table discussion featuring municipal financial records and accounting.

Discussions on traffic engineering for safety and recent actions of the General Assembly are also planned.

Mayor Roy W. Eves, immediate past president, has informed League officials he will, for the first time, be absent from a League session.

The final day of the meeting, he has pointed out, happens to be June 17, the date of Cumberland's municipal election, in which he is a candidate for re-election.

Final Performance Slated For 'Guest In The House'

The final performance of "Guest In The House," will be staged tonight by the Algonquin Players.

The production will be staged at Carroll Hall under the direction of Chad Riley. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Mr. Riley is well known as an actor and director and has taken an active part in the work of the drama group.

In the cast are Rebecca Borgman, a second grade student at West Side School, and Miss Barbara Campbell, who takes the part of Ann Proctor.

Rebecca, better known as Becky, has had no previous stage experience. Observers at rehearsals reported she took her part like an "old pro."

She prefers classical music to the popular "rock and roll." She had wanted to be a ballet dancer but has now decided she wants to become an actress.

Members of the opening night audience would say it was a wise decision.

"Guest In The House" is the third production to be staged this year by the Algonquin Players.

Man Writes Congressman About Canal Bugs, Odor

An Oldtown resident who is seeking the alleviation of an insect problem which he says stems from stagnant waters of the old C&O Canal, has written a letter to his Congressman.

Ross F. Shaw said last night that he has written to Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde and desires a solution to the situation for the sake of the health of the residents of Oldtown.

The infested area, Mr. Shaw pointed out, is located a distance of about three quarters of a mile along the canal on what is known as Eight Mile Level.

He said the stagnant water breeds nothing but mosquitoes, bugs and gnats, and the odor is nauseating. He said he also complained last spring about the situation.

In his letter, he invited Rep. Hyde to visit the area. Since it is federal property the problem is out of the hands of the County Commissioners, Mr. Shaw said.

Medical Care Rolls, Costs Increase Here

Allegany County's Medical Care program, which has always been the highest in the state, increased this spring, according to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

During February, the state-county sponsored program cost $13,113.14 as about 4,200 people were carried on the rolls.

Officials said furloughs in the area were responsible for the greater use of the program designed to provide health services for those who cannot afford to pay for them.

The Medical Care costs, the health officer said, had been averaging from $10,000 to $11,000 a month.

Two groups are eligible for free medical and dental services. Those carried on the county relief rolls are automatically eligible for the service.

The second group is the medically indigent—persons who cannot meet the cost of medical care but are self supporting in other respects.

Doctors and dentists who provide services for Medical Care patients do so at reduced rates and minimum markups are allowed for medicines dispensed by pharmacists.

In 1955-56, about two per cent of the residents in Maryland's counties received services under the Medical Care program at a per capita cost of 50 cents for all Maryland citizens.

Habeas Writ Is Denied

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which stemmed from a difference in dates, has been denied Eugene V. Oldaker, city, by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, who filed an opinion in Allegany County Court.

Oldaker asked the writ be granted because he was tried in Trial Magistrate's Court June 2, 1958 on a charge of being intoxicated on a public street May 28, 1958.

According to the petition he said "theoretically it could not have been that date, because I was still confined in the Allegany County jail completing a 25-day sentence."

Judge Harris pointed out that in his opinion this contention could have been made on a motion for a new trial or on an appeal but not on a motion for a writ of habeas corpus.

To Hold Final Meeting

Guard To Camp At Indiantown During August

Three County Units Will Participate

The 115th Infantry Regiment, 29th Division, Maryland National Guard, which is commanded by Col. Randolph Millholland, this city, will join the rest of the division for its annual summer encampment at Indiantown Gap, Pa., during the last two weeks in August.

Headquarters Company, 1st. Battalion, and Company C, both of Cumberland, as well as Company D of Frostburg, are part of Col. Millholland's regiment. He noted that Company D, commanded by First Lt. Samuel J. Allen, is the largest heavy weapons company in the regiment.

All units of the regiment are scheduled to begin their movement to Indiantown Gap on Saturday, August 16. Units represent all parts of Maryland with the exception of lower Southern Maryland, Col. Millholland noted.

This summer's training will be the culmination of the Army teamwork lessons learned individually in the respective armories during the past year, Col. Millholland said. "In addition to the valuable experience of working together, there will be a comprehensive training schedule to follow, which will include the technical studies, range firing of the larger weapons, the regimental and division parades, and the annual softball tournament as well as other recreational activities peculiar to Regular Army life," the commander observed.

This year's colorful division parade will be held on Saturday, August 23 and will be viewed by numerous military and political figures as well as friends and relatives of members of the troop Col. Milholland extended an invitation to friends and relatives of members of the units to attend the ceremonies and special events on that day.

Last year's field training exercises have been hailed as the best ever, in that the 115th Regiment exhibited a high degree of military efficiency. The strength and spirit of the regiment this year, Col. Millholland remarked, indicates an even better summer training experience.

Col. Millholland expressed appreciation to employers of National Guardsmen for their cooperation by making these men available for training.

In the third permit, Bruce D. Wasson of Cresaptown was granted permission to construct a 12 by 36 frame dwelling. The foundation will be concrete block pillars and the home will have a cellar, and a roof of composition shingle. The cost will be about $5,000.

Septic Tank Regulations Are Revised

Stricter regulations governing the installation of septic tanks have been placed into effect by the Allegany County Health Department.

The rules are being enforced on all building projects in the county unless the building is to be located in an incorporated community where public sewers are available.

Proof from the Health Department that the plan will meet standards must be supplied before the county will issue a building permit.

Certification is also being required, according to J. B. Dowling, chief sanitarian, before government-guaranteed loans can be secured.

The first step, Mr. Dowling said, is to secure an excreta disposal permit from the Health Department.

The prospective builder may fill out the form either at the Health Department offices or at home and then mail it together with a scale drawing on the reverse side of the form.

One of the requirements is that a percolation test be made to determine how well the soil will absorb moisture from the septic tank's drainage field.

To make this test, the owner must excavate two test pits, 12 inches square and 24 inches deep, in the ground where the distribution field will be. The test is conducted by sanitarians who fill the holes with water and mark the time it takes for the water to be absorbed.

If absorption is satisfactory, a standard drainage field may be used. If the soil will not take water readily, larger fields are required.

When the forms are returned and the test made, the Health Department issues a permit which allows the owner or his contractor to get a building permit and to proceed with work on the septic system.

When the installation is in, the Health Department makes an inspection and issues a completion certificate if all is in order.

The system cannot, of course, be covered until the inspection is made. Results are kept on file by the Health Department.

Fight For GOP Chairman Post Expected Today

State Republican Convention To Meet

BALTIMORE (AP)—A fight between Maryland's senior senator and Maryland's outgoing governor is brewing at Saturday's State Republican Convention if D. Eldred Rinehart quits as chairman.

Sen. John Marshall Butler and Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin have seldom seen eye to eye. Rinehart's impending resignation could bring on a brawl that would shove the convention's normal business, formalizing nominations of the May 20 primary, well into the background.

Rinehart has asked to be relieved of the party chairmanship because of his other duties as chairman of the State Racing Commission and proprietor of extensive orchards in Washington County.

Gresham Or France?

Previously considered a shoo-in as a successor is McKeldin's administrative assistant, 35-year-old William A. Gresham. But now, on the eve of the convention, Sen. Butler has come out for former national committeeman Jacob France as a replacement for Rinehart.

Gresham, a former newspaper man, was a Democrat but turned Republican when he went with McKeldin in 1950. Regarding the chairmanship, he said:

"I am not an active candidate . . .but if the nomination is offered me I will accept."

France, a Baltimore attorney, has been a banker, industrialist and oil man. He was elected national committeeman in 1944 and, with Sen. Butler, supported Robert A. Taft against Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidential nomination in 1952.

Hints At Party Split

Sen. Butler said Friday that the GOP should insist on a man for the chairmanship "who has met and passed the test of Republicanism over a long period of years."

He said it would be a tragic mistake to do otherwise and, hinting at a party split, added:

"Such a mistake could seriously injure the party and its efforts to provide the nation and state with competent public officials."

Butler also urged that Rinehart keep his present job. His Senate colleague, Sen. J. Glenn Beall, said he would lead a draft to retain Rinehart as chairman.

Other GOP candidates nominated in the primary also have expressed the hope that Rinehart will stay on. He has not ruled out the possibility of a draft.

A McKeldin-Butler fight over Rinehart's successor could lead to selection of a compromise chairman. Thomas G. Tinsley, a radio executive and political newcomer, is known to be interested.

GOP Convention To Be Offered Civil Rights Plank

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Republican convention will be offered Saturday a campaign platform with an outspoken call for quick ending of all segregation.

A platform committee headed by E. Dale Adkins Jr. of Salisbury proposed one of the strongest worded planks on civil rights for a political party in Maryland.

The 152 delegates to the convention will be asked to say the GOP not only accepts the Supreme Court's prohibition against maintenance of separate schools on the basis of race, but approves.

"It is our contention that there cannot be legal nor moral justification for the exclusion of any citizen from any public operated building or facility," the plank continues.

"We find morally and economically indefensible those business people, who although dependent on public patronage, deny there services, commodities and accommodations to people on the basis of color."
